Old Home Gives Up 'Cached' $110

By CHARLES CRONIN

There's an old adage about putting your money in trust, not trusting in your money.

But a city man who discovered a cache of outdated currency is hoping the money will turn out to be more of a financial blessing than at first seemed apparent.

While dismantling an old house at the site of the new Osteopathic Hospital on E. 6th St., William Cunningham of Bloomfield unearthed $110 in old-style currency stashed away beneath a heavy cupboard.

THE CASH has lost some of its original crispness, but has retained its color and markings and appears in excellent condition otherwise.

Cunningham has been assured by a local bank that the old currency may be exchanged for some of Uncle Sam's more modern certificates.

But rather than exchange it at face value, he plans to save it until he learns if it may bring "extra dividends" from a collector.

An electrical construction worker without assignment at present, Cunningham discovered the cache in a niche in the bottom of a huge cupboard on the first floor of the now razed house at 326 E. 6th St.

The bills—nine of the $10 variety and a $20—were held in place by a bent nail, safely away from prying eyes.

CUNNINGHAM spotted the currency in tipping over the nine-foot-high cupboard to remove it from the premises.

All the bills are larger in size than those presently in use today, measuring 7½ inches long and 3½ inches wide.

Today's currency is smaller, 6-x-2½.

The $20 bill was issued by the First National Bank of Chester Oct. 3, 1903, and the face carries the picture and name of Hugh McCullough, plus the signatures of Oscar O. Allison, cashier, and George E. Lewis, president.

Three of the nine $10 bills are treasury department notes of the 1901 series.

Two others were issued by the National Bank of Toronto July 30, 1907.

THE OTHER $10 bills were issued by the Peoples National Bank of Wellsville, June 27, 1902; the First National Bank of Salem, W. Va., April 18, 1904; the First National Bank of Oceanside, Calif., Dec. 21, 1905, and the Citizens' National Bank of East Liverpool, Nov. 15, 1897.

City Civil Service Group Criticized By Ohio Union

The East Liverpool Civil Service Commission is one of nine in Northeastern Ohio cities under fire from a statewide public employes' union for alleged mishandling of municipal personnel matters.

Ohio Public Employes Council No. 8 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes filed a complaint with the Ohio Personnel Board of Review at Columbus and asked it to investigate.

In addition to East Liverpool, it named Canton, Bellefofntaine, Marion, Mansfield, Newark, Springfield, Youngstown and Warren.

The union has a branch in East Liverpool. It is Local 677 of the AFL-CIO union, representing principally street, incinerator and water department workers.

The union's director, Robert Hastings, wrote the Board of Review, accusing the city civil service commission of failing to formulate and issue rules for classifying positions, appointments, promotions, transfers, layoffs, suspensions, reductions, removals and reinstatements.

Hastings' letter charged the cities he says are involved "have reduced public employment to the level of partisan spoils."

Hastings wrote: "What we have found is shocking and more than adequate reason to cause you to believe that these several municipal civil service commissions are violating and failing to perform the duties imposed upon them by law."

He amplified: "In all the cities, outside of police and fire department employes, civil service or merit tenure is on a hit-or-miss basis with a very small proportion of the employes covered by civil service, if any at all. We have found that for most positions that should be covered by civil service the local commission has held no competitive examinations and provided no eligibility lists."

The union spokesman called upon the state to compel adherence to Ohio constitutional and Ohio Revised Code provisions on civil service law. He said the constitution says appointments must be made on the basis of merit and fitness, and the state code specifies that civil service includes all positions of trust in city, county and state service.

Big Steel Stirs Wrath Of Kennedy

Charges Ruthless Disregard Of Public By Raising Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time in his administration President Kennedy is engaged in furious battle with a major segment of U.S. industry. He threw himself into the fight with a charge that big steel showed ruthless disregard of the public by raising prices.

Kennedy launched the attack Wednesday at a news conference in which he denounced U.S. Steel Corp. and fellow steel price hikers with the strongest language he has leveled at anyone or anything since becoming president.

His voice rising, his forefinger poking for emphasis, Kennedy said steel price boosters had displayed "utter contempt for the interests of 185 million Americans." He said their "pursuit of private power and profit exceeds their sense of public responsibility."

Kennedy made important announcements at his meeting with newsmen:

Barring serious deterioration of the international situation, he said, the 145,000 Reservists and National Guardsmen called to active duty last year will be allowed to return home in August.

The government would seek a Taft-Hartley injunction to force an 80-day cooling off period in the West Coast shipping strike. (It got the injunction a short time later.)

But through the half-hour, either he or newsmen put the focus on steel.

Kennedy said the United Steelworkers Union, which signed a contract he thought would hold prices in line, abided by its responsibilities. "And this government also has responsibilities which we intend to meet," he added.

In view of the speed with which other steel manufacturers fell in line behind U.S. Steel, he said, the Justice Department and Federal Trade Commission will determine whether any laws have been broken. He obviously had at least the antitrust laws in mind.

Robber Gets $70 At Store

Woman Proprietor Held Up With Gun

The Dawson Grocery on Route 168, three and a half miles south of Laughlins Corners, was robbed Wednesday afternoon of about $70 by a man who drew a gun on Mrs. Grace Dawson, the operator.

The robbery occurred about 1:22 p. m., officers of the Beaver County barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police said. Mrs. Dawson was alone at the time.

She said the man came in and bought a pack of cigarettes and left, returning a couple minutes later and saying he forgot matches.

She said she reached to a counter nearby and when she turned back, the man drew a short-barrel revolver and asked for the money.

She said he did not threaten or harm her.

She said he had been in the store at least four times in the last couple of weeks.

The robber was described as slender, about 6 feet, 30 years old, dark hair, dark complected and wearing dark rim glasses. Police said he was wearing a blue striped cap similar to a railroader's, a blue denim jacket and dark gray trousers. They said he left in a blue and white 1957 or 1958 Ford.

The store is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Dawson, and she operates it while her husband works.

Civil War Facet

'The General' Stolen In 1862

By GLENN WAIGHT

One hundred years ago today a daring band of Union soldiers seized a Confederate train at Big Shanty, Ga., and raced north, hotly pursued by their enemy in one of the most melodramatic incidents of the Civil War.

And on this anniversary of "the Great Locomotive Chase," a nephew of one of the Union soldiers heads south as a guest of Georgia to take part in a commemoration of the raid which ended in death for eight of the men and the first Congressional Medals of Honor for the survivors.

IN THE raiding party were William Campbell, 23, of Salineville, a husky, adventurous civilian, and Perry Shadrach, 21, of Knoxville, Jefferson County, who were later to die on an Atlanta scaffold.

Also in the group was William Pittenger, bespectacled 21 - year-old Knoxville area school teacher who was to chronicle the wild train ride and its aftermath.

His nephew, Thomas Pittenger, of near Lisbon was to leave today for Atlanta to ride north on a train drawn by the famed locomotive, "The General," stolen 100 years ago.

Mr. Pittenger, 72, a retired farmer who resides a mile north of Lisbon, is the son of the late Hiram Pittenger, a brother of the man with the raiding party.

THERE ARE A number of other descendants of the Pittenger family in the area today.

Leader of the Yankee train "thieves" was bearded, gentlemanly James J. Andrews, who reportedly came from Hollidays Cove in the West Virginia Panhandle, but who also may have been from Beaver County or possibly an immigrant from Finland.

Shadrach had originally come from Somerset, Pa., to Jefferson County, and enlisted in the 2nd Ohio Regiment. He was described as plump or solidly built, quick - tempered with sparkling blue eyes.

Campbell was a big, muscular man, weighing about 220, who had spent 1861 at Louisville, Ky., and was visiting his friend, Shadrach, when the raid was organized and he decided to go along. Campbell had a full beard at the time.

SAMUEL ALLISON of Route 39 near Salineville is related to Campbell, whose mother was Jane Morgan, a cousin of Confederate Gen. John H. Morgan. Allison's great - grandmother, Mrs. Keziah Morgan Allison, was a sister to Campbell's mother.

Gen. Morgan, a cousin of William Campbell, visited Mrs. Allison on his raid in 1863 when she fed him and gave him a shirt, according to historical accounts.

Pittenger was born on a farm near Knoxville, and the family moved to a larger farm two miles north of Knoxville when he was 12. He taught school throughout the area, later went into photographic work at Steubenville, and had begun to read law when Ft. Sumter was fired upon. He enlisted in the 2nd Ohio in a company under Anson McCook of the famous area fighting family.

ANDREWS, about 33, was a house painter at Flemingsburg, Ky., when the war began, and he moved between the federal and rebel lines carrying information for the Union Army.

Late in February 1862, a group of Union soldiers under Andrews were sent to seize a train at Atlanta in a move to burn bridges on the vital railroad link between Georgia and Chattanooga, but the plan failed when the southerner on whom they counted to be engineer was transferred.

The second raid was approved by Gen. Ormsby Mitchell to coincide with a large - scale thrust he planned at Huntsville, Ala. and toward Chattanooga, key Confederate center. Andrews and his men were to steal a train, race north, cutting telegraph wires and burning bridges to prevent reinforcements in Georgia from aiding Chattanooga.

DRESSED IN civilian clothes, the volunteers for the raid headed south from Shelbyville in groups of two and three afoot. Andrews' plan was for the men to go to Marietta, Ga., board a northbound morning train, seize it during a breakfast stop and race toward Chattanooga. Three soldiers who had been railroad engineers were included in the group.

The men finally reached Marietta on April 11, and before daybreak the next morning, dressed, went to the station from their hotel, and boarded the train. Two soldiers overslept and didn't make it.

William Fuller, 25 - year - old Georgia conductor, was slightly suspicious of the large group of strange civilians boarding his train, but took their tickets as the train moved out.

President Brands Steel Executives' Act 'Unjustifiable'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Angry Washington today whipped up two congressional investigations and a price-fixing probe in swift counterblows at the steel industry's price increase.

Court action against steelmakers also was a possibility.

Spurred by President Kennedy's scathing assault on what he called the "wholly unjustifiable and irresponsible" act of a tiny handful of steel executives, the administration and Democratic legislators set out to:

1. Force a rollback, if possible, of the $6-a-ton boost posted Tuesday by U.S. Steel Corp. and adopted with alacrity by its biggest competitors.

2. Discourage a similar price hike in aluminum, steel's chief competitor, now that steel has opened the breach in Kennedy's program of voluntary stabilization.

3. Pave the way for possible legislation giving the government a stronger hand in the wage-setting and price-fixing processes.

4. Retain if possible the cooperation of labor in the antiinflation drive by showing that the administration meant business in demanding the same restraint of management as it asked of unions.

5. Expose the price increase—termed by U.S. Steel a modest catch-up adjustment but denounced by Kennedy as a ruthless profit grab—to such pitiless scrutiny and publicity as might deter other firms and industries.

Kennedy hinted at his news conference Wednesday that he still hoped U.S. Steel, the industry bellwether, would rescind the increase.

But by that time five other firms — Bethlehem, Republic, Jones and Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Wheeling Steel—were committed to the new price averaging $156 a ton. Altogether the six produce 70 per cent of the nation's steel. U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic and Jones and Laughlin hold the first four places in the industry.

Kennedy evidently hoped, by stressing the pending antitrust investigations, to deter the scores of lesser steel producers from joining the price parade. Kaiser, Colorado and Inland have said they are studying possible price hikes.

In announcing the price increase, U.S. Steel President Leslie B. Worthington gave as the reason a continuing cost-price squeeze on profits since 1958, when prices last were raised. Worthington said these costs have continued to rise without even considering higher labor costs after July 1 under new contracts signed last week.

Few in Washington expected Roger M. Blough, board chairman of U.S. Steel, would back down an inch when he faces reporters at a news conference this afternoon in New York.

Kennedy spoke Wednesday of the price increase in cold anger and disdain. He charged the steelmakers with "utter contempt for the interests of 185 million Americans."

The President said that most "price and wage decisions in this country are and ought to be freely and privately made."

"But the American people have a right to expect in return for that freedom a higher sense of business responsibility for the welfare of their country than has been shown in the last two days," he said.

"Some time ago I asked each American to consider what he would do for his country and I asked the steel companies. In the last 24 hours we had their answer."

Ships' Crews Sign On As Strike Ends

Shipping Resumed Under Court Order Asked By President

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Crews from striking seafaring unions signed on today for a resumption of West Coast and Hawaii shipping under a Taft-Hartley court order asked by President Kennedy.

Some of the approximately 60 vessels tied up in the month-old strike were loaded and ready to sail as soon as crews report. A number expected to leave port during the day.

The American President Lines announced its luxury liner President Wilson would sail Monday for Honolulu and the Orient.

U.S. Dist. Judge George B. Harris issued a temporary restraining order late Wednesday under the Taft-Hartley Act after President Kennedy requested that the Justice Department file a petition in the national interest—and particularly for relief of Hawaii.

Hawaii's Gov. William Quinn appealed to the White House to intervene because of steadily dwindling food supplies. The pinch also was felt on the West Coast where some processors contracted with foreign flag ships to bring in raw materials.

Officer Hayes Is Suspended For 15 Days

Patrolman Samuel E. Hayes was given a 15-day payless suspension from the police department today when Safety - Service Director Robert Owen upheld charges of "gross neglect of duty" filed by Chief Americo J. Radeschi.

The chief's charge alleged that Officer Hayes failed to report for duty for the midnight-to-8 a.m. shift last Saturday and did not report himself off. At the same time, the chief alleged, the patrolman worked as a special officer that night in the Veterans Social Club on Pennsylvania Ave.

The director said Officer Hayes did not deny the charge in the

After Ransom's Paid

54 Of Prisoners To Be Released

HAVANA (AP)—Fifty-four sick or wounded captives of the Bay of Pigs invasion are to be released Saturday following the payment of ransom into a Canadian bank. Negotiations will continue for the ransoming of more of the 1,179 invasion prisoners.

A spokesman for the committee who negotiated the release of the first group said they would be flown to Miami on Saturday with two doctors accompanying them.

Their release was arranged by a committee of four exiles who came here Tuesday from the United States after a military tribunal found the invaders guilty of treason and set ransoms on their heads ranging from $25,000 to $500,000. Otherwise they face 30 years in prison.

A Havana television broadcast said the Cuban Families Committee in the United States had agreed with Prime Minister Castro to continue negotiations for the freedom of the rest of the prisoners. But there was no indication that Castro was cutting the prices put on the individual captives.

The ransoms set by the Cuban tribunal totaled $62 million. The families committee said it had collected only about $26 million and hoped its negotiators could buy freedom for all the prisoners for that amount.

A Havana broadcast said the prisoners whose ransom has been set at the lowest amount—$25,000—would be the first ones freed as soon as the money was paid.

President Kennedy at his news conference Wednesday ruled out any U.S. government part in the negotiations to free the prisoners. He said that Castro knows the "United States government cannot engage in negotiations like that." He added that Castro also knows the families of the prisoners cannot raise the sums he asked for their freedom.

Many Items To Cost More

Steel Increase Will Hit Consumers' Pocketbooks

By ROGER LANE

NEW YORK (AP)—The steel price boost will reach out to touch the pocketbooks of all consumers.

Just when and by how much can not readily be determined.

But one thing was sure. That many, many items now made of steel—but not all—will cost more, from pots and pans to a new house or car.

These will be direct effects. An indirect impact, slower to develop and harder to recognize, will show up in many places—for the household electricity bill when the utility has to pay more for power line poles and generator turbines.

The sum total influence on the cost of living and other barometers of the economy has been vigorously argued after past steel price hikes, and even hotter debate seemed in store this time.

President Kennedy opened it Wednesday.

"If this rise in the cost of steel is imitated by the rest of the industry, instead of rescinded, it would increase the cost of homes, autos, appliances, and most other items for every American family," he said.

The major automakers, like most other manufacturers, had no official comment on the $6-a-ton price boost announced first by U.S. Steel Corp. and then by other big steel producers.

Students of the auto industry, in the middle of what promises to be one of its most prosperous years, doubted a rise in prices of 1962 model cars but thought a rise was probable on 1963 models.

General Electric Co. and Westinghouse Electric, two big users of steel in appliances, industrial goods and defense products, also declined immediate comment on prospects for price revisions.

In Cleveland, Walter J. Campbell, editor of Steel Magazine, said the hike meant steel for a washing machine would cost the manufacturer 65 cents more and for a farm tractor, $4.65 more.

Midland Men Held In Theft At Gas Station

Pair Nabbed After Officer Halts Truck For Faulty Lights

Two Midland men were arrested early today on Pennsylvania Ave., 16 minutes after they alleged forced open a vending machine in an East End service station and stole a petty cash box containing $71.

Police identified the suspects as Carl Irwin Leak, 332 Ohio Ave., and Charles Allen, 416 Penn Ave., nabbed when Patrolman Paul E. Carter stopped a pickup truck on a hunch because it had only one headlight.

The cashbox and the money stolen from the Petrosol Service Station at 1:55 a. m. were found under the seat of the truck, Officer Carter reported. The arrest was made at 2:11.

The driver of the truck, an East Liverpool man, was released after questioning. He told police the two suspects came to his home and offfered him $1.50 to drive them to Midland.

The two were arraigned this morning before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on felony charges alleging they "maliciously and unlawfully forced entrance into a certain depository box"—the locked drawer of the cigarette machine from which the money was taken.

Judge Chertoff set the preliminary hearings at 9 a. m. Monday after both men requested continuances to obtain counsel. He set bonds of $2,500 in each case. Neither entered a plea.

Allen, 27, told the judge: "I didn't do that" when the charge was read. Leak is 23.

Homer Flowers, attendant at the station at Pennsylvania Ave. and Park Way, told police he was in the back room greasing a truck when the cash box was stolen. He said the two men, who had come into the station to ask about a car, walked out the door and crossed Pennsylvania Ave.

When he came out of the back room, he checked and found the cash box had been taken. He notified police, giving them a description of the two men.

Officer Carter later was searching the area in a cruiser when he saw a pickup truck turn off Virginia Ave. onto Pennsylvania Ave. and head east. Noting that the vehicle had only one headlight,

3. Pave the way for possible legislation giving the government a stronger hand in the wage-setting and price-fixing processes.

4. Retain if possible the cooperation of labor in the antiinflation drive by showing that the administration meant business in demanding the same restraint of management as it asked of unions.

5. Expose the price increase—termed by U.S. Steel a modest catch-up adjustment but denounced by Kennedy as a ruthless profit grab—to such pitiless scrutiny and publicity as might deter other firms and industries.

Kennedy hinted at his news conference Wednesday that he still hoped U.S. Steel, the industry bellwether, would rescind the increase.

But by that time five other firms — Bethlehem, Republic, Jones and Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Wheeling Steel—were committed to the new price averaging $156 a ton. Altogether the six produce 70 per cent of the nation's steel. U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic and Jones and Laughlin hold the first four places in the industry.

Kennedy evidently hoped, by stressing the pending antitrust investigations, to deter the scores of lesser steel producers from joining the price parade. Kaiser, Colorado and Inland have said they are studying possible price hikes.

In announcing the price increase, U.S. Steel President Leslie B. Worthington gave as the reason a continuing cost-price squeeze on profits since 1958, when prices last were raised. Worthington said these costs have continued to rise without even considering higher labor costs after July 1 under new contracts signed last week.

Few in Washington expected Roger M. Blough, board chairman of U.S. Steel, would back down an inch when he faces reporters at a news conference this afternoon in New York.

Kennedy spoke Wednesday of the price increase in cold anger and disdain. He charged the steelmakers with "utter contempt for the interests of 185 million Americans."

The President said that most "price and wage decisions in this country are and ought to be freely and privately made."

"But the American people have a right to expect in return for that freedom a higher sense of business responsibility for the welfare of their country than has been shown in the last two days," he said.

"Some time ago I asked each American to consider what he would do for his country and I asked the steel companies. In the last 24 hours we had their answer."

Ships' Crews Sign On As Strike Ends

Shipping Resumed Under Court Order Asked By President

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Crews from striking seafaring unions signed on today for a resumption of West Coast and Hawaii shipping under a Taft-Hartley court order asked by President Kennedy.

Some of the approximately 60 vessels tied up in the month-old strike were loaded and ready to sail as soon as crews report. A number expected to leave port during the day.

The American President Lines announced its luxury liner President Wilson would sail Monday for Honolulu and the Orient.

U.S. Dist. Judge George B. Harris issued a temporary restraining order late Wednesday under the Taft-Hartley Act after President Kennedy requested that the Justice Department file a petition in the national interest—and particularly for relief of Hawaii.

Hawaii's Gov. William Quinn appealed to the White House to intervene because of steadily dwindling food supplies. The pinch also was felt on the West Coast where some processors contracted with foreign flag ships to bring in raw materials.

Robber Gets $70 At Store

Woman Proprietor Held Up With Gun

The Dawson Grocery on Route 168, three and a half miles south of Laughlins Corners, was robbed Wednesday afternoon of about $70 by a man who drew a gun on Mrs. Grace Dawson, the operator.

The robbery occurred about 1:22 p. m., officers of the Beaver County barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police said. Mrs. Dawson was alone at the time.

She said the man came in and bought a pack of cigarettes and left, returning a couple minutes later and saying he forgot matches.

She said she reached to a counter nearby and when she turned back, the man drew a short-barrel revolver and asked for the money.

She said he did not threaten or harm her.

She said he had been in the store at least four times in the last couple of weeks.

The robber was described as slender, about 6 feet, 30 years old, dark hair, dark complected and wearing dark rim glasses. Police said he was wearing a blue striped cap similar to a railroader's, a blue denim jacket and dark gray trousers. They said he left in a blue and white 1957 or 1958 Ford.

The store is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Dawson, and she operates it while her husband works.

Officer Hayes Is Suspended For 15 Days

Patrolman Samuel E. Hayes was given a 15-day payless suspension from the police department today when Safety - Service Director Robert Owen upheld charges of "gross neglect of duty" filed by Chief Americo J. Radeschi.

The chief's charge alleged that Officer Hayes failed to report for duty for the midnight-to-8 a.m. shift last Saturday and did not report himself off. At the same time, the chief alleged, the patrolman worked as a special officer that night in the Veterans Social Club on Pennsylvania Ave.

The director said Officer Hayes did not deny the charge in the

After Ransom's Paid

54 Of Prisoners To Be Released

HAVANA (AP)—Fifty-four sick or wounded captives of the Bay of Pigs invasion are to be released Saturday following the payment of ransom into a Canadian bank. Negotiations will continue for the ransoming of more of the 1,179 invasion prisoners.

A spokesman for the committee who negotiated the release of the first group said they would be flown to Miami on Saturday with two doctors accompanying them.

Their release was arranged by a committee of four exiles who came here Tuesday from the United States after a military tribunal found the invaders guilty of treason and set ransoms on their heads ranging from $25,000 to $500,000. Otherwise they face 30 years in prison.

A Havana television broadcast said the Cuban Families Committee in the United States had agreed with Prime Minister Castro to continue negotiations for the freedom of the rest of the prisoners. But there was no indication that Castro was cutting the prices put on the individual captives.

The ransoms set by the Cuban tribunal totaled $62 million. The families committee said it had collected only about $26 million and hoped its negotiators could buy freedom for all the prisoners for that amount.

A Havana broadcast said the prisoners whose ransom has been set at the lowest amount—$25,000—would be the first ones freed as soon as the money was paid.

President Kennedy at his news conference Wednesday ruled out any U.S. government part in the negotiations to free the prisoners. He said that Castro knows the "United States government cannot engage in negotiations like that." He added that Castro also knows the families of the prisoners cannot raise the sums he asked for their freedom.

Many Items To Cost More

Steel Increase Will Hit Consumers' Pocketbooks

By ROGER LANE

NEW YORK (AP)—The steel price boost will reach out to touch the pocketbooks of all consumers.

Just when and by how much can not readily be determined.

But one thing was sure. That many, many items now made of steel—but not all—will cost more, from pots and pans to a new house or car.

These will be direct effects. An indirect impact, slower to develop and harder to recognize, will show up in many places—for the household electricity bill when the utility has to pay more for power line poles and generator turbines.

The sum total influence on the cost of living and other barometers of the economy has been vigorously argued after past steel price hikes, and even hotter debate seemed in store this time.

President Kennedy opened it Wednesday.

"If this rise in the cost of steel is imitated by the rest of the industry, instead of rescinded, it would increase the cost of homes, autos, appliances, and most other items for every American family," he said.

The major automakers, like most other manufacturers, had no official comment on the $6-a-ton price boost announced first by U.S. Steel Corp. and then by other big steel producers.

Students of the auto industry, in the middle of what promises to be one of its most prosperous years, doubted a rise in prices of 1962 model cars but thought a rise was probable on 1963 models.

General Electric Co. and Westinghouse Electric, two big users of steel in appliances, industrial goods and defense products, also declined immediate comment on prospects for price revisions.

In Cleveland, Walter J. Campbell, editor of Steel Magazine, said the hike meant steel for a washing machine would cost the manufacturer 65 cents more and for a farm tractor, $4.65 more.

Two Midland men were arrested early today on Pennsylvania Ave., 16 minutes after they alleged forced open a vending machine in an East End service station and stole a petty cash box containing $71.

Police identified the suspects as Carl Irwin Leak, 332 Ohio Ave., and Charles Allen, 416 Penn Ave., nabbed when Patrolman Paul E. Carter stopped a pickup truck on a hunch because it had only one headlight.

The cashbox and the money stolen from the Petrosol Service Station at 1:55 a. m. were found under the seat of the truck, Officer Carter reported. The arrest was made at 2:11.

The driver of the truck, an East Liverpool man, was released after questioning. He told police the two suspects came to his home and offfered him $1.50 to drive them to Midland.

The two were arraigned this morning before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on felony charges alleging they "maliciously and unlawfully forced entrance into a certain depository box"—the locked drawer of the cigarette machine from which the money was taken.

Judge Chertoff set the preliminary hearings at 9 a. m. Monday after both men requested continuances to obtain counsel. He set bonds of $2,500 in each case. Neither entered a plea.

Allen, 27, told the judge: "I didn't do that" when the charge was read. Leak is 23.

Homer Flowers, attendant at the station at Pennsylvania Ave. and Park Way, told police he was in the back room greasing a truck when the cash box was stolen. He said the two men, who had come into the station to ask about a car, walked out the door and crossed Pennsylvania Ave.

When he came out of the back room, he checked and found the cash box had been taken. He notified police, giving them a description of the two men.

Officer Carter later was searching the area in a cruiser when he saw a pickup truck turn off Virginia Ave. onto Pennsylvania Ave. and head east. Noting that the vehicle had only one headlight,

He said Broadway was swept with the sweeper early this morning and he thanked the residents for their co-operation in not parking along the route. The work was started after midnight.

Main St. already has been swept.

Rates Hiked At Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — An increase in all rates at the City Park for the summer season was authorized by the Park Commission at a meeting Wednesday night when park personnel was hired.

Rates were boosted for the pool and for table rentals in the revision of charges, the first in many years, a spokesman said.

Prices for children at the pool were boosted from 10 to 20 cents, students from 25 to 35 cents, and adults from 50 to 75 cents. Season tickets remain unchanged—family $15, adults $8, students $5.20 and children $4.

Rates for renting shelters were boosted from $4 to $6 for holidays and weekends, half shelters from $2 to $3, and outdoor tables from 50 cents to $1.

The commission pointed out the park finances have not been strong in recent years, and revenue is heavily dependent on weather conditions. A 1-mill levy provides about $9,000 annually for the park.

The commission said the rates at the pool had been lower than those of other pools in the district.

Hired last night were Sandra Ward and Joan Guy as ticket clerks, Richard Nealis, Ronald West, John Rudge and Ronald Ross as lifeguards, and Robert Grove and Dave Seiter, Patty Rafferty and Sherry Berresford, basket attendants.

Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare said today that the main thorofare between 3nd and 12th Sts. will be hosed down.

He said the city will be trying something new in its operation as a pump owned by the volunteer fire department has been obtained through the co-operation of Chief Robert Lewis and members of the department.

Rates Hiked At Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — An increase in all rates at the City Park for the summer season was authorized by the Park Commission at a meeting Wednesday night when park personnel was hired.

Rates were boosted for the pool and for table rentals in the revision of charges, the first in many years, a spokesman said.

Prices for children at the pool were boosted from 10 to 20 cents, students from 25 to 35 cents, and adults from 50 to 75 cents. Season tickets remain unchanged—family $15, adults $8, students $5.20 and children $4.

Rates for renting shelters were boosted from $4 to $6 for holidays and weekends, half shelters from $2 to $3, and outdoor tables from 50 cents to $1.

The commission pointed out the park finances have not been strong in recent years, and revenue is heavily dependent on weather conditions. A 1-mill levy provides about $9,000 annually for the park.

The commission said the rates at the pool had been lower than those of other pools in the district.

Hired last night were Sandra Ward and Joan Guy as ticket clerks, Richard Nealis, Ronald West, John Rudge and Ronald Ross as lifeguards, and Robert Grove and Dave Seiter, Patty Rafferty and Sherry Berresford, basket attendants.

What Happened To Leadership?

You can take your choice of explanations for the failure of President Kennedy's program to get off the ground.

Some political scientists believe the presidency is going through a major change; that it is becoming more like the ceremonial office held by the president of France. That's one choice.

The other is not so easy to face up to, because it has unpleasant associations. They must be dealt with at their face value.

President Kennedy has been accustomed throughout his life to hearing men and women of more than ordinary intellect talk about the problems of the world they lived in. His social conscience has been honed to a razor edge.

He is exceptionally articulate. He is not only a speaker with a wide range of expression but a competent practitioner with the written word.

Above and beyond this he has trained himself to think of problems with a legislator's point of view. What needs to be done to correct inequity?

BUT IN COLD truth, President Kennedy has had no previous experience in the workaday world ordeal of getting things done. He has surrounded himself with people who are said to be skilled in the practical ways of the world, but it remains to be proved in the 87th Congress that they can live up to their billing.

There is no substitute — ever — for the know-how of No. 1 in organizational effort.

When it is considered that Harry Truman occupied the White House at a time when Congress could muster a parliamentary majority for Ohio Sen. Robert A. Taft, acknowledged leader of a hostile coalition, it can only be imagined how much weaker than Mr. Truman Mr. Kennedy would be if his legislative opponents had a leader like Taft.

Only Mr. Truman's native know-how and his training in a school of hard knocks kept him from being overshadowed by Sen. Taft. But today, with no opposition figure of stature to cope with in Congress, Mr. Kennedy is in growing danger of being overshadowed by the sheer bulk of an anonymous and faceless "reluctance" to take him at his word.

His opponents do not even declare themselves to be in opposition. They merely listen to what he says, which he invariably says very well, then follow their own legislatively haphazard inclination.

THE MOST MISSED man who left the Senate for the executive department is not Mr. Kennedy but his vice presidential running mate in 1960, Lyndon B. Johnson, the former Texas senator who was an indispensable majority leader for President Eisenhower as well as for the Democratic party.

It is all very well for those with a distaste for Kennedy ideas to be happily reconciled to the young president's ineffectuality. But for those who realize everything a chief executive does is a rehearsal for the things he may have to do the situation is not reassuring.

President John F. Kennedy desperately needs a vote of confidence on something soon to brighten the image of presidential leadership.

He is in danger of achieving a reputation as a president who is full of ideas and empty of performance.

Whether that is caused by a change in the presidential office or a fault in the holder of the office is not consequential. The effect is most disquieting as far as confidence in his executive leadership is concerned.

Deservedly Our National Game

Aside from the way it gives us something to talk about, baseball gives us something to think about. That's another reason it deserves to be our national game. It fits us like a glove.

Take spring training and the exhibition games. Every year the rookies and the hasbeens have their special moments of glory before the season begins. The established stars frequently look like something that had been brought up too fast from the semipro ranks.

Then when the season begins, does the best team always win? Not at all. In baseball, the worst teams win some of the time, which makes baseball different from other competitive sports in which the inferior team never has a chance unless hanky-panky has been practiced.

Another thing about baseball is the way mediocrities who get kicked around in one place can be traded and turn into luminaries. This is one of the game's oddities, and no one knows if it's a tribute to the new managers or proof-positive that the old managers didn't know their business, which seems more plausible.

There are other noteworthy oddities about baseball, such as the fact it's called a sport instead of a business to keep it from being prosecuted and persecuted like a business and the further fact that in this "sport" players are bought and sold like chattels, because otherwise there would be no "business."

There's something here that could happen only in America, along with umpire-baiting, the dustoff pitch, the roll block into 2nd base with the spikes held high and the honorable practice of tagging out an obstreperous base runner on the nose with a baseball in the fist.

It's high time for another baseball season to begin. Things are getting dull. Football is tame and in basketball it's a foul for so much as touching an opponent in an ungentlemanly manner. Play ball! Kill the bums!

What Happened To Springtime?

Again we are hearing the querlous complaint that something has happened to springtime because it doesn't seem as springy as it used to seem.

This belongs in the same category of complaining as beefs about home cooking and whatever became of old-fashioned winters. The tipoff is that even when we have an old-fashioned winter, complainers still aren't convinced it's as old-fashioned as it used to be. Even homecooking—the good kind—leaves them skeptical.

So when they grow querulous about springtime, don't pin them down with the truth. Let them be querulous.

The truth is nothing happened to springtime but something happened to them. As the years passed, springtime went out of them. They forgot how they went fishing when it was too cold for comfort, that kites were torn apart by gales or dissolved in rainstorms, that boys played marbles in frozen mud and the only girl in the world could have the sniffles like anybody else.

They forgot that springtime was first of all something that happened in the mind and subsequently happened elsewhere when flowers finally bloomed in May, not in April, and Easter finery became comfortably wearable weeks after Easter Sunday, which was frequently inclement.

All that happened was that something was gone from their mind when the calendar said April and the last snowdrifts had dwindled to the size of coal piles. They had forgotten how to look at springtime with a mellow eye and an open heart. Otherwise, springtime was just as it always had been before—a season of infinite promise and faulty performance.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Washington proposes a tax on boats, including those as small as rowboats. Pleasure seekers, looking for fresh air, sunshine and seagoing relaxation, may find the leak is in the pocketbook instead of the boat. It also wants to grab and keep the gasoline tax, heretofore refunded.

Tax of $5 on rowboats of 14 feet, with $2 per foot for extra length is asked. Rules of sea may now require instructions on whether a boat owner, trying to catch a few fish, should pass an approaching revenue agent to port or starboard.

There already are city, town and state taxes on boats, even in kiddie sizes and day of "Let's go out on the water and get away from it all" seems over. Bell buoys flashing microphonic record "Have you paid taxes?" may come next. You need to be bookkeeper and accountant in order to go fishing.

Sandworms now cost minimum of a nickel each, plus tax. Nets and bait boxes are taxed. Hooks, rods, lines and reels carry a levy. There's a sales tax on life preservers and on a few feet of rope to toss to a man overboard. If you take the daughter or wife there will be suntan oil tax.

You may pay tax on an anchor to stay in one spot and one on gasoline if you move. Most fisherman in 14 foot boats tote a few cans of beer, also taxed. On top of all this there is tax on original cost of boat, tax on yacht club dues, marina expenses, boat paint, varnish, oars, engines, pumps, cocktail gin, yachting caps, sneakers and books entitled "How to Enjoy Boating" "Have fun, folks!" (If you have money, intestinal fortitude and sufficient tax forms.) As Masefield might have put it:

I must go down to the seas again, to the lovely sea and the sky, and all I ask is my bank's help in the upkeep extra high.

BIG LEAGUE BASEBALL season has been resumed and proves a way has been found to bench Liz, Tony and Eddie.

"Cleopatra" out, sliding.

So many officials of foreign nations are arriving in United States and getting ticker tape parades that it's confusing. "Just toss out another basketfull of litter and when we find out who he is we will notify you," is the advice in many skyscraper offices.

We know one stenographer who jumped to her own conclusion as she looked down on arrival of another visitor. "It's either Eddie Fisher, Casey Stengel or one of the Ringling Brothers," she declared.

Maybe Frank Gifford is returning to football because he has found things are tougher off the field, and a man looks foolish wearing a helmet to and from work.

President wants Congress to dig into transportation mess, with emphasis on railroads, and straighten things out so roads can get back on main track and know where they are going. Magicians, not congressmen, are needed to handle case of punch drunk railroads, get suggestions for a fair shake.

History says Cleopatra killed self by allowing an asp to bite her. But movie people filming scene say it's hard to get asps because they, too, are having marital troubles and won't bite without advice of lawyers.

Another Case Of A Gold-Plated Bed

Soviets Infiltrate Latin America

By Victor Riesel

VICTORIA, Tex. There's duelling in the sun which bathes the Caribbean and Gulf with a seducing serenity belied only by reports that Cuban Soviet agents are crawling all over Latin America. This is a duel of cloak and dagger — and I mean dagger — operatives. Some are ours. Some theirs. It is a swift fight to the finish for control of millions of militant Latin laborites—including those in our own Puerto Rico.

Victor Riesel

With Cuba as a conduit, the Soviets are pouring money and manpower into an "apparat" attempting to build a new Latin American revolutionary labor machine which would reach from Santiago, Chile, right into the United States via Puerto Rico.

If such a labor coalition can be welded together by the Communist Latin section of the Soviet-controlled World Federation of Trade Unions (WFTU)—it could topple governments with a series of general strikes.

SUCH A STREET RIOTING—job action—offensive was meticulously planned at the WFTU conference which ran for 10 days in Moscow starting last Dec. 5.

It took just about three months for the Soviet agents to be briefed in Moscow and Prague, travel home, run a secret regional conference and then issue a call for a vast new "Latin-American federation of labor of anti-imperialist character."

If you want the exact jargon used on March 7 by Soviet operatives in Havana, here you have it: "It will be called upon to play an important role in the struggle for complete emancipation of the Latin American Peoples through the indestructible 'unity of the working class."

That "unity" is to be welded at a Communist labor organizing parley scheduled by Ecuadorian, Uruguayan, Chilean and, of course, Cuban labor operatives in Santiago, Chile, next August.

I said there was a duel in the lucious Latin sun. There is. We too are attempting to create a new hemispheric labor network. Not much is permitted to be said of this now.

We may not win. But that will be only because we move like gentle people instead of ramming the grim truth down the throats of the Soviet agit-props (agitation-propaganda) agents.

THERE IS an enormous story to tell. We permit the Sino-Soviet bloc to smear us as Fascists, because we did not invade Cuba and bayonet little Fulgencio Batista. Soviet agents tell millions that imperialism and fascism kept the Cuban workers enslaved. Well, let it be known here that the enslavement came after Castro. So did regimentation. So did starvation.

In the old days labor at least operated freely in Cuba. Let it now be known that under Castro and his Soviet two-man commandatura (sent in from Moscow) all workers must have special identity cards—just as in the Soviet Union. Without such, they cannot work. They cannot obtain housing, nor furniture nor ration cards.

No Cuban workers since March 12, 1960, has been able to leave his job, or apply for a new one without permission of the Ministry of Labor.

There are no unions. There are labor outfits, in name only, under-Sovietized Lazaro Pena.

On March 11, 1960, a new labor law deprived the unions of the right to negotiate with employers. Now it is all in the hands of the minister of labor. He has absolute authority to settle any labor controversy by decree.

UNDER LABOR LAW 647, of 1960, "the minister of labor, at his pleasure, is empowered to take over the control of any labor union or national federation and is also authorized to demote and remove from office union leaders and appoint substitutes in their places."

Not only have the workers lost their freedom of movement but they are chained to slow starvation. Since the Batista regime fell to Castro, the workers have lost 30 days of paid vacation; nine days paid sick leave; 26 days extra pay a year; a yearly Christmas bonus which ran from an extra 15 days' pay to 90; extended weekends—3½ days long—during the four summer months; four national holidays and four workers' choice holidays. All overtime pay has been surrendered—such time now being considered a "gift" to the "revolution."

There is more grimness. But few really know what the average Cuban has lost of that most precious possession—the simple right to move and work where one wishes and to argue about one's pay.

Let's tell the story to the Latin world. Maybe this time we won't lose that duel in the sun.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO—George Grafton was elected president, succeeding Charles W. Caton, and Caton was named vice president at a meeting of the East End Recreation Softball League.

The Bible Literary Club was entertained with a dinner at the home of Mrs. C. R. Boyce of Virginia Ave., Chester. It marked the closing of the club season until fall.

Margaret Lucas and Wanda Bissell were enrolled as new members of the Ceramic Loyal Temperance Legion, a junior organization of the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — T. V. Milligan, G. Stewart Thompson and C. C. Davidson were renamed trustees of the First Presbyterian Church.

William Robert Leake, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Leake of Broadway, Wellsville, was promoted from corporal to sergeant at Camp Bowie, Tex.

Albert Tucker, son of Mrs. George Tucker of Dresden Ave., enlisted in the Navy.

TEN YEARS AGO — Robert Haney was enrolled as a new member of the Chester Lions Club.

Sgt. Charles L. Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmas Watson of LaCroft, arrived to spend a month at home after 3½ years in Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Patterson of Main St., Wellsville, returned home from Miami, Fla., where they spent the winter.

Odd Facts

The smallest bird in the world is the hummingbird, one species having a body about the size of a bumblebee. Its bill is long and slender, enabling it to reach deep into flowers for tiny insects and nectar. Its tongue is forked and can be rolled into a tube by means of which the nectar is obtained.

The custom of bugle calls at horseraces dates back to the time when racing in America was conducted under the auspices of the officers of the British Army. The bugle call at the post was adopted at that time and has since been included in the Rules of Racing.

By adding the odd names of certain U. S. towns to their states' abbreviations, you can come up with some funny combinations, such as: Ash, Kan.; Carpet, Tex.; Odear, Me.; Shoo, Fla.; Kay, O.; Houdy, Miss.; and Fiver, Tenn.

The Gulf of California, extending between the Mexican mainland and the peninsula of Baja California, has many sudden storms. One of the most feared is El Cordonazo, "The Lash," which brings hurricane-force winds and frequent bolts of lightning.

Double Standard

By David Lawrence

Kennedy's Political Strategy Questioned

"Disregard the Constitution if it gets you more votes — and hold on tightly to the Constitution if you want to block the passage of a law that could lose you votes."

David Lawrence

This apparently is the Kennedy administration's code of political strategy as manifested now with respect to some proposed laws before Congress.

Although the Constitution explicitly and plainly says that qualifications for voting by American citizens shall be determined by the states alone, Attorney General Kennedy now says in effect, in a public statement to a Senate subcommittee, that it is all right for Congress to ignore this constitutional provision. He takes the position that Congress can pass a law defining "literacy" as completion of a sixth-grade education.

The Constitution does forbid discrimination in voting on the grounds of race or color or sex, and laws have been enacted to enforce those provisions. Voters now can be disqualified on the basis of illiteracy irrespective of race or color or sex. So no new law really is needed to prevent any discrimination, and only a constitutional amendment can take away from the states the power to fix their own standards of literacy as a qualification for voting.

Coincidentally, the Rev. Martin Luther King, Negro leader, is quoted as having said after a conference with the attorney general on Monday that Mr. Kennedy wants a bill passed by Congress because "he does not believe a constitutional amendment can be ratified by enough states."

What becomes then of the mandate that the Constitution should be obeyed even if it contains what some folks think is a cumbersome way of adopting a new amendment? Why should any administration — and for that matter, some Republican senators from Eastern states, too — advocate the passage of a bill as a means of circumventing the Constitution?

Thus, Senators Javits and Keating of New York, and Gov. Rockefeller — all Republicans in a state with a large Negro constituency — seem to feel it is desirable to pass a law fixing literacy as the equivalent of a sixth-grade education.

THE OBSESSION for vote getting seems to have seized other Republican leaders. Recently former Vice President Nixon in a new book lamented the fact that in the last presidential campaign he hadn't made enough of a play to get the Negro vote in the big cities.

What these Republicans overlook is that the number of Negroes influenced by alleged discrimination practices are few, as compared with those who are affected by unemployment and pocket book issues.

For decades the Republicans reminded the Negroes that emancipation from slavery had been achieved for them by the Republican party. But when President Franklin D. Roosevelt established the Works Progress Administration during the depression in 1933 —giving handouts to millions of unemployed — the Negro voters forgot all about the "civil rights" record of the Republicans and joined the Democratic party, notwithstanding the fact that the Southern wing maintained a very decided influence in that particular party.

It might be thought that the attorney general is inconsistent in going out of his way to avoid a move in favor of a constitutional amendment as he concentrates instead on getting a law passed, inasmuch as this requires only a simple majority of both houses of Congress. Yet last year he declined to favor the passage of a law authorizing construction loans to parochial schools at the elementary-grade level—arguing that this is unconstitutional — even though supporting such loans at the college level.

Mr. Kennedy perhaps isn't really inconsistent, after all, for in this case, as in the matter of literacy tests, he is following the code that you ignore the Constitution when it helps you get votes, and you adhere to the Constitution when you think it might lose votes to do otherwise.

SINCE PRESIDENT Kennedy was elected in November 1960, despite the campaign issue which charged that he would favor the Catholic Church, he has done everything he could to disabuse the Protestants of any such idea.

He has flatly said that aid to elementary and secondary parochial schools for construction purposes would be unconstitutional. The attorney general has publicly espoused that viewpoint, too.

Presumably the real reason for taking this position is that it may mean more votes for the Kennedy administration in the next election. It is assumed that approximately 80 per cent of the Catholics will vote in 1964 for Mr. Kennedy anyhow — as they did in 1960, according to public-opinion polls at that time — and that in addition many Protestant votes now will be gained because the administration is unwilling to sanction either a constitutional amendment or a law which would treat bricks and mortar for construction as the same thing in church schools as in public schools.

Political expediency rules the day, and the only consistency is in the new strategy which says, in effect, "forget the Constitution and win votes by whatever device will appeal to the largest number of voters."

What Happened To Leadership?

You can take your choice of explanations for the failure of President Kennedy's program to get off the ground.

Some political scientists believe the presidency is going through a major change; that it is becoming more like the ceremonial office held by the president of France. That's one choice.

The other is not so easy to face up to, because it has unpleasant associations. They must be dealt with at their face value.

President Kennedy has been accustomed throughout his life to hearing men and women of more than ordinary intellect talk about the problems of the world they lived in. His social conscience has been honed to a razor edge.

He is exceptionally articulate. He is not only a speaker with a wide range of expression but a competent practitioner with the written word.

Above and beyond this he has trained himself to think of problems with a legislator's point of view. What needs to be done to correct inequity?

BUT IN COLD truth, President Kennedy has had no previous experience in the workaday world ordeal of getting things done. He has surrounded himself with people who are said to be skilled in the practical ways of the world, but it remains to be proved in the 87th Congress that they can live up to their billing.

There is no substitute — ever — for the know-how of No. 1 in organizational effort.

When it is considered that Harry Truman occupied the White House at a time when Congress could muster a parliamentary majority for Ohio Sen. Robert A. Taft, acknowledged leader of a hostile coalition, it can only be imagined how much weaker than Mr. Truman Mr. Kennedy would be if his legislative opponents had a leader like Taft.

Only Mr. Truman's native know-how and his training in a school of hard knocks kept him from being overshadowed by Sen. Taft. But today, with no opposition figure of stature to cope with in Congress, Mr. Kennedy is in growing danger of being overshadowed by the sheer bulk of an anonymous and faceless "reluctance" to take him at his word.

His opponents do not even declare themselves to be in opposition. They merely listen to what he says, which he invariably says very well, then follow their own legislatively haphazard inclination.

THE MOST MISSED man who left the Senate for the executive department is not Mr. Kennedy but his vice presidential running mate in 1960, Lyndon B. Johnson, the former Texas senator who was an indispensable majority leader for President Eisenhower as well as for the Democratic party.

It is all very well for those with a distaste for Kennedy ideas to be happily reconciled to the young president's ineffectuality. But for those who realize everything a chief executive does is a rehearsal for the things he may have to do the situation is not reassuring.

President John F. Kennedy desperately needs a vote of confidence on something soon to brighten the image of presidential leadership.

He is in danger of achieving a reputation as a president who is full of ideas and empty of performance.

Whether that is caused by a change in the presidential office or a fault in the holder of the office is not consequential. The effect is most disquieting as far as confidence in his executive leadership is concerned.

Deservedly Our National Game

Aside from the way it gives us something to talk about, baseball gives us something to think about. That's another reason it deserves to be our national game. It fits us like a glove.

Take spring training and the exhibition games. Every year the rookies and the hasbeens have their special moments of glory before the season begins. The established stars frequently look like something that had been brought up too fast from the semipro ranks.

Then when the season begins, does the best team always win? Not at all. In baseball, the worst teams win some of the time, which makes baseball different from other competitive sports in which the inferior team never has a chance unless hanky-panky has been practiced.

Another thing about baseball is the way mediocrities who get kicked around in one place can be traded and turn into luminaries. This is one of the game's oddities, and no one knows if it's a tribute to the new managers or proof-positive that the old managers didn't know their business, which seems more plausible.

There are other noteworthy oddities about baseball, such as the fact it's called a sport instead of a business to keep it from being prosecuted and persecuted like a business and the further fact that in this "sport" players are bought and sold like chattels, because otherwise there would be no "business."

There's something here that could happen only in America, along with umpire-baiting, the dustoff pitch, the roll block into 2nd base with the spikes held high and the honorable practice of tagging out an obstreperous base runner on the nose with a baseball in the fist.

It's high time for another baseball season to begin. Things are getting dull. Football is tame and in basketball it's a foul for so much as touching an opponent in an ungentlemanly manner. Play ball! Kill the bums!

What Happened To Springtime?

Again we are hearing the querlous complaint that something has happened to springtime because it doesn't seem as springy as it used to seem.

This belongs in the same category of complaining as beefs about home cooking and whatever became of old-fashioned winters. The tipoff is that even when we have an old-fashioned winter, complainers still aren't convinced it's as old-fashioned as it used to be. Even homecooking—the good kind—leaves them skeptical.

So when they grow querulous about springtime, don't pin them down with the truth. Let them be querulous.

The truth is nothing happened to springtime but something happened to them. As the years passed, springtime went out of them. They forgot how they went fishing when it was too cold for comfort, that kites were torn apart by gales or dissolved in rainstorms, that boys played marbles in frozen mud and the only girl in the world could have the sniffles like anybody else.

They forgot that springtime was first of all something that happened in the mind and subsequently happened elsewhere when flowers finally bloomed in May, not in April, and Easter finery became comfortably wearable weeks after Easter Sunday, which was frequently inclement.

All that happened was that something was gone from their mind when the calendar said April and the last snowdrifts had dwindled to the size of coal piles. They had forgotten how to look at springtime with a mellow eye and an open heart. Otherwise, springtime was just as it always had been before—a season of infinite promise and faulty performance.

The Once Over

Washington proposes a tax on boats, including those as small as rowboats. Pleasure seekers, looking for fresh air, sunshine and seagoing relaxation, may find the leak is in the pocketbook instead of the boat. It also wants to grab and keep the gasoline tax, heretofore refunded.

Tax of $5 on rowboats of 14 feet, with $2 per foot for extra length is asked. Rules of sea may now require instructions on whether a boat owner, trying to catch a few fish, should pass an approaching revenue agent to port or starboard.

There already are city, town and state taxes on boats, even in kiddie sizes and day of "Let's go out on the water and get away from it all" seems over. Bell buoys flashing microphonic record "Have you paid taxes?" may come next. You need to be bookkeeper and accountant in order to go fishing.

Sandworms now cost minimum of a nickel each, plus tax. Nets and bait boxes are taxed. Hooks, rods, lines and reels carry a levy. There's a sales tax on life preservers and on a few feet of rope to toss to a man overboard. If you take the daughter or wife there will be suntan oil tax.

You may pay tax on an anchor to stay in one spot and one on gasoline if you move. Most fisherman in 14 foot boats tote a few cans of beer, also taxed. On top of all this there is tax on original cost of boat, tax on yacht club dues, marina expenses, boat paint, varnish, oars, engines, pumps, cocktail gin, yachting caps, sneakers and books entitled "How to Enjoy Boating" "Have fun, folks!" (If you have money, intestinal fortitude and sufficient tax forms.) As Masefield might have put it:

I must go down to the seas again, to the lovely sea and the sky, and all I ask is my bank's help in the upkeep extra high.

BIG LEAGUE BASEBALL season has been resumed and proves a way has been found to bench Liz, Tony and Eddie.

"Cleopatra" out, sliding.

So many officials of foreign nations are arriving in United States and getting ticker tape parades that it's confusing. "Just toss out another basketfull of litter and when we find out who he is we will notify you," is the advice in many skyscraper offices.

We know one stenographer who jumped to her own conclusion as she looked down on arrival of another visitor. "It's either Eddie Fisher, Casey Stengel or one of the Ringling Brothers," she declared.

Maybe Frank Gifford is returning to football because he has found things are tougher off the field, and a man looks foolish wearing a helmet to and from work.

President wants Congress to dig into transportation mess, with emphasis on railroads, and straighten things out so roads can get back on main track and know where they are going. Magicians, not congressmen, are needed to handle case of punch drunk railroads, get suggestions for a fair shake.

History says Cleopatra killed self by allowing an asp to bite her. But movie people filming scene say it's hard to get asps because they, too, are having marital troubles and won't bite without advice of lawyers.

Another Case Of A Gold-Plated Bed

Soviets Infiltrate Latin America

By Victor Riesel

VICTORIA, Tex. There's duelling in the sun which bathes the Caribbean and Gulf with a seducing serenity belied only by reports that Cuban Soviet agents are crawling all over Latin America. This is a duel of cloak and dagger — and I mean dagger — operatives. Some are ours. Some theirs. It is a swift fight to the finish for control of millions of militant Latin laborites—including those in our own Puerto Rico.

Victor Riesel

With Cuba as a conduit, the Soviets are pouring money and manpower into an "apparat" attempting to build a new Latin American revolutionary labor machine which would reach from Santiago, Chile, right into the United States via Puerto Rico.

If such a labor coalition can be welded together by the Communist Latin section of the Soviet-controlled World Federation of Trade Unions (WFTU)—it could topple governments with a series of general strikes.

SUCH A STREET RIOTING—job action—offensive was meticulously planned at the WFTU conference which ran for 10 days in Moscow starting last Dec. 5.

It took just about three months for the Soviet agents to be briefed in Moscow and Prague, travel home, run a secret regional conference and then issue a call for a vast new "Latin-American federation of labor of anti-imperialist character."

If you want the exact jargon used on March 7 by Soviet operatives in Havana, here you have it: "It will be called upon to play an important role in the struggle for complete emancipation of the Latin American Peoples through the indestructible 'unity of the working class."

That "unity" is to be welded at a Communist labor organizing parley scheduled by Ecuadorian, Uruguayan, Chilean and, of course, Cuban labor operatives in Santiago, Chile, next August.

I said there was a duel in the lucious Latin sun. There is. We too are attempting to create a new hemispheric labor network. Not much is permitted to be said of this now.

We may not win. But that will be only because we move like gentle people instead of ramming the grim truth down the throats of the Soviet agit-props (agitation-propaganda) agents.

THERE IS an enormous story to tell. We permit the Sino-Soviet bloc to smear us as Fascists, because we did not invade Cuba and bayonet little Fulgencio Batista. Soviet agents tell millions that imperialism and fascism kept the Cuban workers enslaved. Well, let it be known here that the enslavement came after Castro. So did regimentation. So did starvation.

In the old days labor at least operated freely in Cuba. Let it now be known that under Castro and his Soviet two-man commandatura (sent in from Moscow) all workers must have special identity cards—just as in the Soviet Union. Without such, they cannot work. They cannot obtain housing, nor furniture nor ration cards.

No Cuban workers since March 12, 1960, has been able to leave his job, or apply for a new one without permission of the Ministry of Labor.

There are no unions. There are labor outfits, in name only, under-Sovietized Lazaro Pena.

On March 11, 1960, a new labor law deprived the unions of the right to negotiate with employers. Now it is all in the hands of the minister of labor. He has absolute authority to settle any labor controversy by decree.

UNDER LABOR LAW 647, of 1960, "the minister of labor, at his pleasure, is empowered to take over the control of any labor union or national federation and is also authorized to demote and remove from office union leaders and appoint substitutes in their places."

Not only have the workers lost their freedom of movement but they are chained to slow starvation. Since the Batista regime fell to Castro, the workers have lost 30 days of paid vacation; nine days paid sick leave; 26 days extra pay a year; a yearly Christmas bonus which ran from an extra 15 days' pay to 90; extended weekends—3½ days long—during the four summer months; four national holidays and four workers' choice holidays. All overtime pay has been surrendered—such time now being considered a "gift" to the "revolution."

There is more grimness. But few really know what the average Cuban has lost of that most precious possession—the simple right to move and work where one wishes and to argue about one's pay.

Let's tell the story to the Latin world. Maybe this time we won't lose that duel in the sun.

Double Standard

By David Lawrence

Kennedy's Political Strategy Questioned

"Disregard the Constitution if it gets you more votes — and hold on tightly to the Constitution if you want to block the passage of a law that could lose you votes."

David Lawrence

This apparently is the Kennedy administration's code of political strategy as manifested now with respect to some proposed laws before Congress.

Although the Constitution explicitly and plainly says that qualifications for voting by American citizens shall be determined by the states alone, Attorney General Kennedy now says in effect, in a public statement to a Senate subcommittee, that it is all right for Congress to ignore this constitutional provision. He takes the position that Congress can pass a law defining "literacy" as completion of a sixth-grade education.

The Constitution does forbid discrimination in voting on the grounds of race or color or sex, and laws have been enacted to enforce those provisions. Voters now can be disqualified on the basis of illiteracy irrespective of race or color or sex. So no new law really is needed to prevent any discrimination, and only a constitutional amendment can take away from the states the power to fix their own standards of literacy as a qualification for voting.

Coincidentally, the Rev. Martin Luther King, Negro leader, is quoted as having said after a conference with the attorney general on Monday that Mr. Kennedy wants a bill passed by Congress because "he does not believe a constitutional amendment can be ratified by enough states."

What becomes then of the mandate that the Constitution should be obeyed even if it contains what some folks think is a cumbersome way of adopting a new amendment? Why should any administration — and for that matter, some Republican senators from Eastern states, too — advocate the passage of a bill as a means of circumventing the Constitution?

Thus, Senators Javits and Keating of New York, and Gov. Rockefeller — all Republicans in a state with a large Negro constituency — seem to feel it is desirable to pass a law fixing literacy as the equivalent of a sixth-grade education.

THE OBSESSION for vote getting seems to have seized other Republican leaders. Recently former Vice President Nixon in a new book lamented the fact that in the last presidential campaign he hadn't made enough of a play to get the Negro vote in the big cities.

What these Republicans overlook is that the number of Negroes influenced by alleged discrimination practices are few, as compared with those who are affected by unemployment and pocket book issues.

For decades the Republicans reminded the Negroes that emancipation from slavery had been achieved for them by the Republican party. But when President Franklin D. Roosevelt established the Works Progress Administration during the depression in 1933—giving handouts to millions of unemployed — the Negro voters forgot all about the "civil rights" record of the Republicans and joined the Democratic party, notwithstanding the fact that the Southern wing maintained a very decided influence in that particular party.

It might be thought that the attorney general is inconsistent in going out of his way to avoid a move in favor of a constitutional amendment as he concentrates instead on getting a law passed, inasmuch as this requires only a simple majority of both houses of Congress. Yet last year he declined to favor the passage of a law authorizing construction loans to parochial schools at the elementary-grade level—arguing that this is unconstitutional — even though supporting such loans at the college level.

Mr. Kennedy perhaps isn't really inconsistent, after all, for in this case, as in the matter of literacy tests, he is following the code that you ignore the Constitution when it helps you get votes, and you adhere to the Constitution when you think it might lose votes to do otherwise.

SINCE PRESIDENT Kennedy was elected in November 1960, despite the campaign issue which charged that he would favor the Catholic Church, he has done everything he could to disabuse the Protestants of any such idea.

He has flatly said that aid to elementary and secondary parochial schools for construction purposes would be unconstitutional. The attorney general has publicly espoused that viewpoint, too.

Presumably the real reason for taking this position is that it may mean more votes for the Kennedy administration in the next election. It is assumed that approximately 80 per cent of the Catholics will vote in 1964 for Mr. Kennedy anyhow — as they did in 1960, according to public-opinion polls at that time — and that in addition many Protestant votes now will be gained because the administration is unwilling to sanction either a constitutional amendment or a law which would treat bricks and mortar for construction as the same thing in church schools as in public schools.

Political expediency rules the day, and the only consistency is in the new strategy which says, in effect, "forget the Constitution and win votes by whatever device will appeal to the largest number of voters."

Odd Facts

The smallest bird in the world is the hummingbird, one species having a body about the size of a bumblebee. Its bill is long and slender, enabling it to reach deep into flowers for tiny insects and nectar. Its tongue is forked and can be rolled into a tube by means of which the nectar is obtained.

The custom of bugle calls at horseraces dates back to the time when racing in America was conducted under the auspices of the officers of the British Army. The bugle call at the post was adopted at that time and has since been included in the Rules of Racing.

By adding the odd names of certain U. S. towns to their states' abbreviations, you can come up with some funny combinations, such as: Ash, Kan.; Carpet, Tex.; Odear, Me.; Shoo, Fla.; Kay, O.; Houdy, Miss.; and Fiver, Tenn.

The Gulf of California, extending between the Mexican mainland and the peninsula of Baja California, has many sudden storms. One of the most feared is El Cordonazo, "The Lash," which brings hurricane-force winds and frequent bolts of lightning.

Train Stolen In Civil War Century Ago

passengers and crew to eat breakfast, Andrews and his man stayed on board for a few minutes. Then they swiftly uncoupled the locomotive and the three lead cars, and with William Knight in the cab, sped out of the station with wheels spinning.

—:—

THERE WAS no telegraph at the station, so Fuller and some of his crew began to chase the train on foot, thinking the thieves were rebel deserters. The raiders occasionally stopped to cut wires and to pull up rails, and several times had to wait on sidings for southbound trains to pass them on the single track line.

Fuller ran 2½ miles and came upon a pole push car on which he started to pursue the raiders—which he now realized were Yankees because they had taken track tools from a work crew.

The raiders had to wait an hour at Kingston for three southbound freights, and finally pulled out followed in four minutes by Fuller who had commandeered a switch engine. The Union party had halted to destroy track when they heard a train whistle and knew they were being pursued.

THE RACE went on with Fuller taking over a stalled passenger train engine, then going back on foot to pass a track obstruction to reach Adairsville and another locomotive, "The Texas," on which he followed "The General."

Finally, fuel exhausted and water supply low, "The General" began to slow down about 19 miles south of Chattanooga and Andrews told his men to jump.

They tried unsuccessfully to leave a burning box car on a wooden bridge over the Chickamauga River, then one by one leaped off the slowing locomitve as "The Texas" pressed closely behind.

Campbell and Shadrach were among the first off and they were caught by rebels with a dog pack. Pittenger and all the others were also taken prisoner, transferred to Chattanooga then later to Atlanta.

ANDREWS was tried as a spy in a trial at which Pittenger testified, apparently with the approval of the others, to establish that all were not spies but soldiers under orders.

Later trial was held for the rest, Campbell first. On June 1. Andrews was ordered to be hanged, but the next day he escaped from his jail through a hole in a wall, only to be caught four days later. He was hanged at Atlanta June 7, and on June 18, Campbell and Shadrach and five others were taken to the scaffold.

Campbell and another large man broke the thin cotton ropes, were given water, then hanged again. All were buried in a trench dug in back of the scaffold.

THE SURVIVORS suffered through cramped quarters and deplorable food in their jail, and in October, fearing their death sentences were due, attempted an escape, attacking their guards and fleeing through the prison yard.

Eight of the men finally made their way north or toward the Gulf Coast to freedom, but Pittenger and five others were unable to get away. They were later exchanged, however, and many, after recuperating from their hardships, rejoined the army and fought anew.

Pittenger, one of survivors given the Congressional Medal of Honor personally by Secretary of War Edwin Staunton at Washington, was released from the Army because his health was impaired. He was admitted to the ministry in the Methodist Episcopal Church at Barnesville in 1864.

—:—

HE SERVED churches in Eastern Ohio for while, then moved to New Jersey, and finally to California. There was some controversy between the survivors after the war concerning details of the riad and Pittenger's books about it, but the issue ended with the death of William Bensinger of Hancock County, Ohio, in 1920.

A brother of one of the hanged men located their graves after Atlanta was captured, and the remains of all were transferred to Chattanooga where they rest today in the National Cemetery.

Thomas Pittenger, who visited Chattanooga last year, will be accompanied on his trip by a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Grimm of Richmond, Ohio, and her son, Wayne Grimm, and his son, Jeffrey — providing a four-generation delegation from this area.

Pittenger also plans to visit the ceremonies at Columbus May 4-5 commemorating the raid at which "The General" will be on display. Another daughter of his is Mrs. C. R. Weaver, 121½ W. 6th St., secretary to Mayor Bert Goodballet.

NEGLEY — The old Youngstown & Southern Railroad depot, used for many years as the Post Office here, is scheduled to be destroyed by flames in a fire school Sunday afternoon.

Fire Chief Don Mahon said the two-story, seven - room structure, built shortly after the Civil War, will be leveled in a fire-fighting demonstration which is to begin at 1 p. m.

The railroad has given permission for the razing of the 40-x-60 foot building which Mahon said was constructed from heavy timbers. A depot for many years, it housed the Post Office until last year when a new office was built.

Mahon said the firing of the structure will pose two problems for firemen — there are high tension lines nearby and there will be a shortage of water.

Firemen from East Palestine, South Beaver Township and Rogers will also take part, each department to extinguish a blaze in one room of the building at a time.

Sunday brunch: serve creamed finnan haddie (or other smoked fish) on crisp toast and top with poached eggs. Garnish with a sprinkle of paprika or minced parsley.

city bank carries the signatures of a cashier whose last name was Blythe and that of the president, John W. Vodrey.

No one is certain how many years the money remained hidden from the many occupants of the dwelling, out of sight in a cubicle hacked in the bottom of the cupboard perhaps as a special place to salt away some dough for a rainy day that never came.

—:—

RECORDS show the house was part of James Blakeley's Second Addition and was deeded from John and Joanna Cronin to Thomas Plunkett on May 24, 1873.

Plunkett deeded the property to Katherine A. Plunkett on Jan. 8, 1916, and died July 11, 1922. The house was then left to Agnes O'Connell and Katherine Plunkett, his daughters.

On April 30, 1949, the property was deeded by Katherine Plunkett to Joan Wright, and from her and Ed Wright to Lucy K. Kennedy on Oct. 18, 1956.

The last owners were Lucy K. Kennedy and Charles Kennedy, who deeded the property to the Osteopathic Hospital on March 18, 1959.

—:—

THE HOUSE was diagramed on an old insurance map of East Liverpool, drawn in 1894, that Cunningham also found beneath the cupboard. It showed a five-room house at the E. 6th St. location, but the home was later enlarged with the addition of a front porch, two bathrooms and several other rooms.

Although he still isn't certain of the actual value of the currency to a collector, Cunningham won't go wanting for something to spend it on if he redeems it at a bank without extra dividends.

Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham have eight children — two girls and six boys — and he has three other children by a previous marriage.

Ironically enough, Cunningham attempted to give away the cupboard to relatives before discovering the hidden currency.

But all declined the offer of the cherry wood cupboard because of its immense size!

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It probably will be quite a while before raising the Ohio Turnpike speed limit to 70 miles an hour gets serious consideration, says Turnpike Commission Chairman James W. Shocknessy. That was his response to comments earlier this week by the turnpike's executive director, C. W. Hartford, that eventually authorities will have to consider upping the present 65-m.p.h. passenger-car maximum.

passengers and crew to eat breakfast, Andrews and his man stayed on board for a few minutes. Then they swiftly uncoupled the locomotive and the three lead cars, and with William Knight in the cab, sped out of the station with wheels spinning.

—:—

THERE WAS no telegraph at the station, so Fuller and some of his crew began to chase the train on foot, thinking the thieves were rebel deserters. The raiders occasionally stopped to cut wires and to pull up rails, and several times had to wait on sidings for southbound trains to pass them on the single track line.

Fuller ran 2½ miles and came upon a pole push car on which he started to pursue the raiders—which he now realized were Yankees because they had taken track tools from a work crew.

The raiders had to wait an hour at Kingston for three southbound freights, and finally pulled out followed in four minutes by Fuller who had commandeered a switch engine. The Union party had halted to destroy track when they heard a train whistle and knew they were being pursued.

THE RACE went on with Fuller taking over a stalled passenger train engine, then going back on foot to pass a track obstruction to reach Adairsville and another locomotive, "The Texas," on which he followed "The General."

Finally, fuel exhausted and water supply low, "The General" began to slow down about 19 miles south of Chattanooga and Andrews told his men to jump.

They tried unsuccessfully to leave a burning box car on a wooden bridge over the Chickamauga River, then one by one leaped off the slowing locomitve as "The Texas" pressed closely behind.

Campbell and Shadrach were among the first off and they were caught by rebels with a dog pack. Pittenger and all the others were also taken prisoner, transferred to Chattanooga then later to Atlanta.

ANDREWS was tried as a spy in a trial at which Pittenger testified, apparently with the approval of the others, to establish that all were not spies but soldiers under orders.

Later trial was held for the rest, Campbell first. On June 1. Andrews was ordered to be hanged, but the next day he escaped from his jail through a hole in a wall, only to be caught four days later. He was hanged at Atlanta June 7, and on June 18, Campbell and Shadrach and five others were taken to the scaffold.

Campbell and another large man broke the thin cotton ropes, were given water, then hanged again. All were buried in a trench dug in back of the scaffold.

THE SURVIVORS suffered through cramped quarters and deplorable food in their jail, and in October, fearing their death sentences were due, attempted an escape, attacking their guards and fleeing through the prison yard.

Eight of the men finally made their way north or toward the Gulf Coast to freedom, but Pittenger and five others were unable to get away. They were later exchanged, however, and many, after recuperating from their hardships, rejoined the army and fought anew.

Pittenger, one of survivors given the Congressional Medal of Honor personally by Secretary of War Edwin Staunton at Washington, was released from the Army because his health was impaired. He was admitted to the ministry in the Methodist Episcopal Church at Barnesville in 1864.

—:—

HE SERVED churches in Eastern Ohio for while, then moved to New Jersey, and finally to California. There was some controversy between the survivors after the war concerning details of the riad and Pittenger's books about it, but the issue ended with the death of William Bensinger of Hancock County, Ohio, in 1920.

A brother of one of the hanged men located their graves after Atlanta was captured, and the remains of all were transferred to Chattanooga where they rest today in the National Cemetery.

Thomas Pittenger, who visited Chattanooga last year, will be accompanied on his trip by a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Grimm of Richmond, Ohio, and her son, Wayne Grimm, and his son, Jeffrey — providing a four-generation delegation from this area.

Pittenger also plans to visit the ceremonies at Columbus May 4-5 commemorating the raid at which "The General" will be on display. Another daughter of his is Mrs. C. R. Weaver, 121½ W. 6th St., secretary to Mayor Bert Goodballet.

County Finances Reviewed By Health And Safety Group

LISBON — The Columbiana County Health and Safety Council has issued a review of county finances and the county levies to be on the May ballot for benefit of voters "to help them vote intelligently."

"Costs of government have risen in recent years and probably will continue to rise. Furthermore, the legislature continually adds more expense to county government, usually with no provision for added income to meet the increased expenses. Examples are the county courts, second Common Pleas Court, and retarded children's school," the council said.

"As a result, the balance in the general fund has steadily decreased from $329,000 in 1958 to $59,000 in 1961.

"The budget requests for 1962 were $298,000 in excess of estimated income. County commissioners cut budgets but certain expenditures are mandatory and can not be reduced. Among these are the Board of Elections, soldiers and sailors relief and the courts.

"A study of some other counties with populations similar to that of Columbiana shows that most of the county offices in Columbiana County are being operated on expenditures that are average or below that of similar counties.

"Of the total tax rate, 2.2 mills goes into the general fund from which most expenses of county offices are paid. This rate has not been increased for more than 20 years.

"County Home levy — The Columbiana County Home is being operated at expenditures much below those of most similar counties. Certain repairs and improvements must be made. An addition must be built to the hospital to care for patients.

"Of the residents in the county home, about 45 per cent are hospital cases. The seven-tenths mill levy being submitted is for operation, maintenance and new construction. Principal items are a new hospital and a new sewage disposal system, as required by the State Board of Health.

"Retarded Children's School levy — the last legislature provided that the county government must maintain schools for retarded children. The proposed levy of two-tenths mill is to meet this additional cost. Three classes are now being conducted at Elkton; the need is for at least twice as many. This program is under the Welfare Department and does not receive funds from the usual sources for public schools.

"County levy — the eight-tenths mill levy is to provide additional funds for county expenses. The situation is particularly serious in some departments. For example, the 1962 cut in the sheriff's budget necessitated a reduction of two employes.

"With the rapid growth in population outside of municipalities in which police protection is provided, it would seem that in the interests of safety, additional rather than less personnel, should be provided in the sheriff's office," the council said.

The car was carried about a mile before the train could stop. The engineer said he was going 55-60 miles an hour and he was blowing the whistle continuously for more than a mile as he approached the crossing. He and the firemen said they could see the car coming down the lane but it didn't stop.

County Finances Reviewed By Health And Safety Group

LISBON — The Columbiana County Health and Safety Council has issued a review of county finances and the county levies to be on the May ballot for benefit of voters "to help them vote intelligently."

"Costs of government have risen in recent years and probably will continue to rise. Furthermore, the legislature continually adds more expense to county government, usually with no provision for added income to meet the increased expenses. Examples are the county courts, second Common Pleas Court, and retarded children's school," the council said.

"As a result, the balance in the general fund has steadily decreased from $329,000 in 1958 to $59,000 in 1961.

"The budget requests for 1962 were $298,000 in excess of estimated income. County commissioners cut budgets but certain expenditures are mandatory and can not be reduced. Among these are the Board of Elections, soldiers and sailors relief and the courts.

"A study of some other counties with populations similar to that of Columbiana shows that most of the county offices in Columbiana County are being operated on expenditures that are average or below that of similar counties.

"Of the total tax rate, 2.2 mills goes into the general fund from which most expenses of county offices are paid. This rate has not been increased for more than 20 years.

"County Home levy — The Columbiana County Home is being operated at expenditures much below those of most similar counties. Certain repairs and improvements must be made. An addition must be built to the hospital to care for patients.

"Of the residents in the county home, about 45 per cent are hospital cases. The seven-tenths mill levy being submitted is for operation, maintenance and new construction. Principal items are a new hospital and a new sewage disposal system, as required by the State Board of Health.

"Retarded Children's School levy — the last legislature provided that the county government must maintain schools for retarded children. The proposed levy of two-tenths mill is to meet this additional cost. Three classes are now being conducted at Elkton; the need is for at least twice as many. This program is under the Welfare Department and does not receive funds from the usual sources for public schools.

"County levy — the eight-tenths mill levy is to provide additional funds for county expenses. The situation is particularly serious in some departments. For example, the 1962 cut in the sheriff's budget necessitated a reduction of two employes.

"With the rapid growth in population outside of municipalities in which police protection is provided, it would seem that in the interests of safety, additional rather than less personnel, should be provided in the sheriff's office," the council said.

'Jinxed' Auto Hits Another

An auto "jinxed" by motor failure and then a breakdown in the power steering was involved in a collision with a parked car Wednesday night on E. 3rd St. at Market St., police said.

The double trouble hit a 1957 model convertible driven by Clyde Tucker, 31, of Windham, which then struck a parked 1956 two-door sedan owned by Robert E. Fryer, 107 E. 3rd St., police said.

Tucker said his motor quit and he touched his brakes, preparing to slow, then the power steering failed to function. In pulling out of the traffic lane, his auto hit the parked car, he said. There was damage to the left front bumper of Tucker's car and the rear of Fryer's, officers said.

A collision on W. 8th St. 150 feet east of Lisbon St. Wednesday at 4:18 p. m. involved a 1953 two-door sedan driven by Alice R. Simms, 669 Lincoln Ave., and a 1962 four-door operated by Irvin Crable, 50, of 607 Sanford Ave., police said. There was damage to the rear of the Simms car and the front of the Crable auto.

The woman driver said she turned off Lisbon St., then stopped because she found a barricade on the road in her lane. Crable said he halted behind the woman's car. When she started to back, he had no way of avoiding a collision, he said.

Meanwhile, Lynwood Wilson, 755½ Dresden Ave., told police the left side of his 1954 two-door sedan was damaged by a hit-skip vehicle while parked overnight on Dresden Ave. Wilson said he parked the auto at 11 last night. He reported the damage to police at 7:55 this morning.

FHA's Approval Given Canton's Housing Project

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Federal housing administration officials put their stamp of approval Wednesday on a proposed $8 million low-income housing development they had rejected earlier.

They granted federally - backed mortgage insurance for low - income families to buy homes in the private 46-acre housing development in southeast Canton.

Following an inspection of the site, they assured city officials they would reverse a recent rejection of FHA mortgage insurance by the Cleveland office.

The developers, a group of Canton businessmen known as Highland Park Corp., said construction may start in three months on the first 100 of the 400 homes.

Federal approval means low-income families can obtain government-insured loans with a down payment to buy the homes.

FHA's Approval Given Canton's Housing Project

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Federal housing administration officials put their stamp of approval Wednesday on a proposed $8 million low-income housing development they had rejected earlier.

They granted federally - backed mortgage insurance for low - income families to buy homes in the private 46-acre housing development in southeast Canton.

Following an inspection of the site, they assured city officials they would reverse a recent rejection of FHA mortgage insurance by the Cleveland office.

The developers, a group of Canton businessmen known as Highland Park Corp., said construction may start in three months on the first 100 of the 400 homes.

Federal approval means low-income families can obtain government-insured loans with a down payment to buy the homes.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Our Christmas tree is still standing in the sun parlor. My husband is one of those "I'll do it next week" types. Usually I get tired of waiting for him to get around to things, and I wind up doing it for him. I decided this time to outwait him.

Ever since Jan. 15 he's been promising to take the tree down "next weekend." Whenever I mention it he has an excuse. His back aches. He has to go to his mother's house. He has to go bowling. He promised to take the kids to the playground.

You can imagine what the tree looks like. Most of the needles are off and it's a disgrace. I'm ashamed to have people in the house. They make some very odd remarks. Of course, no one can figure it out.

I've held out so long I'd hate to give in now and take the tree down for him. Any suggestions would be welcome. — IRON WOMAN.

Dear Iron Woman: I do have a suggestion. Take the tree down yourself. That motheaten symbol of your husband's procrastination is also a monument to your own stubborness. Win on something else.

Seven Wasted Years

Dear Ann: I've learned a lot from your column and now I hope you'll print this letter so someone else can learn from my bad experience.

I went with a divorced man for seven years. Every time I brought up the subject of marriage his ex-wife was injected into the act. She needed an operation. One of the children was doing poorly in school and had to have special tutoring. The house had to be repaired. Something connected with his first family invariably seemed to pop up and use every bit of his spare cash.

My sweetheart was forever on the long-distance phone with his exwife about one thing or another. Finally in sheer desperation I said to him, "Why don't you go back to her?" His reply knocked me off my pins. He said, "I think I will." And he did. They were remarried last week.

I'll wager that 90 per cent of the ex-wives who have not remarried would like to have their men back. It took me seven years to wake up and smell the coffee, as you say. Now I wouldn't touch a divorced man with a 10-foot pole. — SADDER BUT WISER.

-:-

Dear Wiser: My mail tells me your guess is a good one. And this is one reason I urge people who eye the divorce courts as the "cureall" to simmer down and take a good look at the big picture. To paraphrase Shakespeare's lines, "It's better to stick to the troubles you are acquainted with and learn how to handle them than to fly off into a world of troubles you know nothing about."

Busy Neighbor

Dear Ann: Now that the weather is getting lovely again I know I'll be faced with the same old problem—the next-door neighbor. She's pleasant and we get along well but our back doors are very close together and she is over here a lot.

We have a telephone in the kitchen which has a long cord. Often when I'm in the back I put the phone on the table in the yard. When the phone rings she makes a run for it, even if I am closer.

Sometimes she chats with my friends and this irritates me. I hate to tell her not to answer my phone because I know she does it to be helpful. What is a tactful approach—or am I being picayunish?—EDGY.

Dear Edgy: It's poor manners to answer someone else's phone unless you are asked to do so. Simply tell her that you see no reason for her to be bothered with your calls and from now on you'll answer.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Our Christmas tree is still standing in the sun parlor. My husband is one of those "I'll do it next week" types. Usually I get tired of waiting for him to get around to things, and I wind up doing it for him. I decided this time to outwait him.

Ever since Jan. 15 he's been promising to take the tree down "next weekend." Whenever I mention it he has an excuse. His back aches. He has to go to his mother's house. He has to go bowling. He promised to take the kids to the playground.

You can imagine what the tree looks like. Most of the needles are off and it's a disgrace. I'm ashamed to have people in the house. They make some very odd remarks. Of course, no one can figure it out.

I've held out so long I'd hate to give in now and take the tree down for him. Any suggestions would be welcome. — IRON WOMAN.

Dear Iron Woman: I do have a suggestion. Take the tree down yourself. That motheaten symbol of your husband's procrastination is also a monument to your own stubborness. Win on something else.

Seven Wasted Years

Dear Ann: I've learned a lot from your column and now I hope you'll print this letter so someone else can learn from my bad experience.

I went with a divorced man for seven years. Every time I brought up the subject of marriage his ex-wife was injected into the act. She needed an operation. One of the children was doing poorly in school and had to have special tutoring. The house had to be repaired. Something connected with his first family invariably seemed to pop up and use every bit of his spare cash.

My sweetheart was forever on the long-distance phone with his exwife about one thing or another. Finally in sheer desperation I said to him, "Why don't you go back to her?" His reply knocked me off my pins. He said, "I think I will." And he did. They were remarried last week.

I'll wager that 90 per cent of the ex-wives who have not remarried would like to have their men back. It took me seven years to wake up and smell the coffee, as you say. Now I wouldn't touch a divorced man with a 10-foot pole. — SADDER BUT WISER.

-:-

Dear Wiser: My mail tells me your guess is a good one. And this is one reason I urge people who eye the divorce courts as the "cureall" to simmer down and take a good look at the big picture. To paraphrase Shakespeare's lines, "It's better to stick to the troubles you are acquainted with and learn how to handle them than to fly off into a world of troubles you know nothing about."

Busy Neighbor

Dear Ann: Now that the weather is getting lovely again I know I'll be faced with the same old problem—the next-door neighbor. She's pleasant and we get along well but our back doors are very close together and she is over here a lot.

We have a telephone in the kitchen which has a long cord. Often when I'm in the back I put the phone on the table in the yard. When the phone rings she makes a run for it, even if I am closer.

Sometimes she chats with my friends and this irritates me. I hate to tell her not to answer my phone because I know she does it to be helpful. What is a tactful approach—or am I being picayunish?—EDGY.

Dear Edgy: It's poor manners to answer someone else's phone unless you are asked to do so. Simply tell her that you see no reason for her to be bothered with your calls and from now on you'll answer.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hardy's Slam, Monbouquette's Hurling Stop Tribe

Pascual Allows 4 Hits In Twins First Win At Kansas City

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Boston's Billy Monbouquette resembles a young Early Wynn in many ways.

Like Wynn, he's a right-hander with an easy pitching motion. Like Wynn, he's a little on the hefty side. He presents a slightly more impassive countenance on the mound than the burly, scowling Early. But then, Billy's 17 years younger than the old Chicago master and might get meaner as the years go by.

He was mean enough Wednesday, throwing a spectacular 4-0, 12-inning shutout over Cleveland that Wynn—who has won more than any other active American Leaguer—would have been proud to claim on his best day.

Monbo finished with a four-hitter and allowed only one—a bloop single by the opposing pitcher, rookie Ron Taylor—through the first nine innings. He struck out five and walked three in one of the best performances of his five-year major league career.

Camilo Pascual, who tied for the AL lead in shutouts with eight last season, had a four-hitter in Minnesota's 8-0 blanking of Kansas City in a night game on the A's home grounds in the only other American League game. Detroit at Washington, the only other game scheduled, was rained out.

Monbouquette appeared to be on his way to another no-support, hard-luck decision until Carroll Hardy blasted a none-out grand slam homer in the bottom of the 12th, spoiling a fine performance by Taylor, who went all the way in his first major league test.

It was Hardy's first homer at Fenway Park in three seasons and gave the Red Sox their first runs after 20 scoreless innings. They had lost their opener to Cleveland 4-0.

Bob Allison, Dick Rollins and Earl Battey provided the wily Pascual with all the hitting support he needed at Kansas City. Allison had a solo homer, Rollins a home run and a triple and Battey a two-run homer among the 10 hits off rookie starter John Wyatt and two others.

Celtics Deadlock NBA Series At 2

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Boston Celtics still win the big games and they're back in the running for their fourth straight National Basketball Association championship.

They gave the Los Angeles Lakers a 115-103 lacing Wednesday night to draw even at two games each, and flew back to Boston at once to rest for the fifth contest Saturday night.

"We just had to win this one," Celtic Coach Red Auerbach said as he herded his athletes into a bus headed for the airport. "I'm tremendously proud of the way they bounced back from that heartbreaking loss Tuesday night (117-115.)

"The fellows had a lot of life and our shooting was just about at capacity. This was the time for them to be on. Otherwise we would have been down 3-1."

Boston started off with a 3-0 lead on a basket and foul shot by Bill Russell and never surrendered it. The Celtics were in front 32-20 after one quarter, 60-51 at the half, 91-76 after three quarters. Six players shot in double figures with Russell the top man at 21.

8 Teams Left To Battle In Tri-State

Tourney Favorites Appear Friday

Friday the 13th will prove very unlucky for four teams in the Tri-State tournament when the men will be separated from the boys.

Four squads from the starting field of 12 were eliminated Wednesday night at Memorial Auditorium to set the stage for the quarter-finals Friday. No games will be played tonight.

The pre-tourney favorites—Joe's All-Stars of Akron featuring players from the Goodyear squad, and American Billiards, with an all-star cast—will make their debuts Friday night.

American Billiards will be matched against Midland CIO in a 9:10 game while Joe's will battle St. Francis-Xavier of Moundsville in Friday's finale at 9:35.

Leading off Friday's card will be Friendly Bowling of East Liverpool meeting Pisanello's Pizza of Alliance in the 7:30 game. At 7:55, George Bright's faces Chambers Memorial of Wheeling.

Friday's Tri-State Tournament Schedule

7:30 — Pisanello's Pizza (Alliance) vs. Friendly Bowling (ELO)

9:10—American Billiards (ELO) vs. Midland CIO

The Midland CIO team, composed of high school talent from Midland, Monaca and East Liverpool had a close call before disposing of Shontz & Myers of Sharon, 55-54.

The Sharon outfit consisted of high school players from that area and the two teams battled on close terms for 32 minutes before Midland gained the final edge. Monaca's Peshut fired in what proved to be the winning goal in the last minute. Midland trailed at halftime, 24-22.

Midland's Al Aloi paced the CIO five with 15 points while Bob Ashton, a 6-foot-8 performer from Carnegie High in Pittsburgh, added 14. Monaca's Hemer and Peshut connected for 11 and 10 respectively.

St. Francis-Xavier was extended before eliminating Laughlin's Gulf of Hookstown by a narrow 66-63 count.

The Chambers five trailed at halftime, 32-30, but forged ahead in the second half with Nick Visnic leading the way. Visnic wound up with 23 points to pace the Moundsville entry. Leigh and Pursutti tossed in 20 points each for Laughlin's.

Friendly Bowling, made up of talent from Steubenville and Wellsville, had the easiest time Wednesday night by disposing of the Scio Knight's, 66-44.

Four starters for the winners gained the double figures with Sims collecting 17 and John Iams 15. Coutts of Scio was the leading scorer of the night with 24.

The other quarter-final berth went to Chambers Memorial of Wheeling which handed Marino's of Weirton a 65-56 setback. Santor and Bernhart led the winners with 15 and 14 each while Dave Fell's 16 points topped the Weirton five.

Semi-finals and finals will be played Saturday night.

OHIO STATE basketball coach Fred Taylor (center) was welcomed to Columbiana Wednesday night by Rich Berryman, head cage coach at Columbiana (left) and George Fisher, head football mentor. Taylor, named "coach-of-the-year" for the past two seasons, was guest speaker at a "Sports Appreciation Banquet" for Columbiana High athletes sponsored by the Boosters Club. More than 500 attended the dinner.

500 Hear Taylor At Clipper Fete

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

As a professional baseball player, Fred Taylor, head basketball coach at Ohio State University, told a huge gathering of over 500 at Columbiana Wednesday night that he was only "a caddy to Mickey Vernon" during his brief stay with the Washington Senators.

However, the likeable Buckeye mentor doesn't have to take a back seat in basketball, a sport where he has been named "coach-of-the-year" for the past two seasons and guided the Buckeyes to an NCAA championship and two runnerup spots in three campaigns.

TAYLOR, who can be comical in his own way and just as serious at other times, was guest speaker at the annual "Sports Appreciation Banquet" sponsored and handled in big league fashion by the Columbiana Boosters Club.

The banquet honored all the sports teams at Columbiana High School, including football, basketball, track and golf.

The dinner had a definite Ohio State flavor to it. Taylor was the guest speaker and was introduced by Bill Newell, the banquet chairman and a member of the 1950 Ohio State Rose Bowl squad.

Also on the same platform with Taylor and Newell was Jim Hague, the guy who kicked the winning field goal for the Buckeyes in the 1950 Rose Bowl. Newell is a native of Columbiana while Hague is from nearby Poland.

SPEAKING to the athletes, Taylor asked "What can you gain through athletics?"

The Ohio State coach pointed out five points that he felt were directly derived from participating in athletics. He listed "self-discipline, scholarship, punctuality, recognition and respect."

"An athlete must learn to discipline himself. It is a great sacrifice sometimes but much pride can be gained if an athlete knows he is in good condition by self-disciplining himself. Sometimes I don't think some athletes work hard enough on this point," he said.

"If a boy is a good athlete, he has a very good chance of also becoming a good scholar. They tie in together," Taylor pointed out.

"An athlete must learn to be punctual, by being on time for practice and games."

—:—

"ATHLETES must keep their standards high. They are recognized in their community and everybody looks to them as an idol," Taylor emphasized.

"Respect all ties into morale on a team. Teammates must have the highest respect for each other and the individual must have respect for his coach and most of all his parents," Taylor said.

Taylor has served as head basketball coach at OSU for four years. He is a former basketball star for the Buckeyes, playing from 1948-1950.

He was an All-American baseball player and following his graduation signed with Washington and was up briefly with the Senators after several good seasons in the minors. He went to Ohio State in 1953 as an assistant coach.

—:—

Fisher and Berryman in turn introduced members of the various squads.

The toastmaster was Dr. Chester W. Dewalt. Supt. D. W. Bailey and Ray Spiker, president of the Boosters Club, spoke briefly. The invocation and benediction was given by the Rev. H. J. Scheidemantle. Dr. K. P. Murphy led the group in the singing of the Star-Spangled Banner.

Newell and Don Gosney served as co-chairmen of the banquet.

Touring Pros Open Play At Greensboro

By KEN ALYTA

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — The 23rd annual Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament, which has taken on the character of a Sam Snead benefit since its 1938 inaugural, began today with about 120 of the nation's foremost players in the field.

The 4-day, 72-hole chase for the winner's $5,300 end of the total $35,000 jackpot began with a lengthy list of top drawer swingers on hand.

Among them were Arnold Palmer and Dow Finsterwald, who met in the Masters playoff at Augusta, Ga., Mike Souchak, Doug Ford, Stan Leonard and Bob Goalby, like Snead and Finsterwald former winners here; and such worthy challengers as Bill Casper, Doug Sanders, Art Wall, Julius Boros, Kel Nagel, George Bayer, Jack Nicklaus, Charlie Sifford, Billy Maxwell, Phil Rodgers, Joe Campbell and Dave Marr. All told, 11 of the year's top 17 money winners and 24 of 40 are here.

But Snead, nearing his 50th birthday, still commands the lion's share of interest.

Slamming Sam has compiled a fantastic record here since winning the first GGO 24 years ago. In all, he has notched seven victories, the last in 1960. Last year he was runner-up to Souchak.

Gary Player, the little South African, flew back home earlier in the week, electing to pass up the GGO.

Toronto Aiming For 2nd In Row Against Hawks

TORONTO (AP) — Fired-up Toronto aims for its second straight victory over the Chicago Black Hawks tonight in the Stanley Cup championship series, but the Maple Leafs might find the rope is around their necks.

In winning the coveted cup last year and gaining the finals this year, the Hawks have established a reputation of playing better hockey when they have their backs against the wall.

Toronto opened the series with a 4-1 victory over the listless and apparently tired Hawks Tuesday night. Another triumph on home ice tonight will give the Leafs plenty of breathing room before meeting the Hawks in Chicago Sunday and again Tuesday.

Hardy's Slam, Monbouquette's Hurling Stop Tribe

Pascual Allows 4 Hits In Twins First Win At Kansas City

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Boston's Billy Monbouquette resembles a young Early Wynn in many ways.

Like Wynn, he's a right-hander with an easy pitching motion. Like Wynn, he's a little on the hefty side. He presents a slightly more impassive countenance on the mound than the burly, scowling Early. But then, Billy's 17 years younger than the old Chicago master and might get meaner as the years go by.

He was mean enough Wednesday, throwing a spectacular 4-0, 12-inning shutout over Cleveland that Wynn—who has won more than any other active American Leaguer—would have been proud to claim on his best day.

Monbo finished with a four-hitter and allowed only one—a bloop single by the opposing pitcher, rookie Ron Taylor—through the first nine innings. He struck out five and walked three in one of the best performances of his five-year major league career.

Camilo Pascual, who tied for the AL lead in shutouts with eight last season, had a four-hitter in Minnesota's 8-0 blanking of Kansas City in a night game on the A's home grounds in the only other American League game. Detroit at Washington, the only other game scheduled, was rained out.

Monbouquette appeared to be on his way to another no-support, hard-luck decision until Carroll Hardy blasted a none-out grand slam homer in the bottom of the 12th, spoiling a fine performance by Taylor, who went all the way in his first major league test.

It was Hardy's first homer at Fenway Park in three seasons and gave the Red Sox their first runs after 20 scoreless innings. They had lost their opener to Cleveland 4-0.

Bob Allison, Dick Rollins and Earl Battey provided the wily Pascual with all the hitting support he needed at Kansas City. Allison had a solo homer, Rollins a home run and a triple and Battey a two-run homer among the 10 hits off rookie starter John Wyatt and two others.

Celtics Deadlock NBA Series At 2

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Boston Celtics still win the big games and they're back in the running for their fourth straight National Basketball Association championship.

They gave the Los Angeles Lakers a 115-103 lacing Wednesday night to draw even at two games each, and flew back to Boston at once to rest for the fifth contest Saturday night.

"We just had to win this one," Celtic Coach Red Auerbach said as he herded his athletes into a bus headed for the airport. "I'm tremendously proud of the way they bounced back from that heartbreaking loss Tuesday night (117-115.)

"The fellows had a lot of life and our shooting was just about at capacity. This was the time for them to be on. Otherwise we would have been down 3-1."

Boston started off with a 3-0 lead on a basket and foul shot by Bill Russell and never surrendered it. The Celtics were in front 32-20 after one quarter, 60-51 at the half, 91-76 after three quarters. Six players shot in double figures with Russell the top man at 21.

8 Teams Left To Battle In Tri-State

Tourney Favorites Appear Friday

Friday the 13th will prove very unlucky for four teams in the Tri-State tournament when the men will be separated from the boys.

Four squads from the starting field of 12 were eliminated Wednesday night at Memorial Auditorium to set the stage for the quarter-finals Friday. No games will be played tonight.

The pre-tourney favorites—Joe's All-Stars of Akron featuring players from the Goodyear squad, and American Billiards, with an all-star cast—will make their debuts Friday night.

American Billiards will be matched against Midland CIO in a 9:10 game while Joe's will battle St. Francis-Xavier of Moundsville in Friday's finale at 9:35.

Leading off Friday's card will be Friendly Bowling of East Liverpool meeting Pisanello's Pizza of Alliance in the 7:30 game. At 7:55, George Bright's faces Chambers Memorial of Wheeling.

Friday's Tri-State Tournament Schedule

7:30 — Pisanello's Pizza (Alliance) vs. Friendly Bowling (ELO)
7:55 — George Bright's (ELO) vs. Chambers Memorial (Wheeling)
9:10—American Billiards (ELO) vs. Midland CIO
9:35—Joe's All-Stars (Akron) vs. St. Francis-Xavier (Moundsville)

The Midland CIO team, composed of high school talent from Midland, Monaca and East Liverpool had a close call before disposing of Shontz & Myers of Sharon, 55-54.

The Sharon outfit consisted of high school players from that area and the two teams battled on close terms for 32 minutes before Midland gained the final edge. Monaca's Peshut fired in what proved to be the winning goal in the last minute. Midland trailed at halftime, 24-22.

Midland's Al Aloi paced the CIO five with 15 points while Bob Ashton, a 6-foot-8 performer from Carnegie High in Pittsburgh, added 14. Monaca's Hemer and Peshut connected for 11 and 10 respectively.

St. Francis-Xavier was extended before eliminating Laughlin's Gulf of Hookstown by a narrow 66-63 count.

The Chambers five trailed at halftime, 32-30, but forged ahead in the second half with Nick Visnic leading the way. Visnic wound up with 23 points to pace the Moundsville entry. Leigh and Pursutti tossed in 20 points each for Laughlin's.

Friendly Bowling, made up of talent from Steubenville and Wellsville, had the easiest time Wednesday night by disposing of the Scio Knight's, 66-44.

Four starters for the winners gained the double figures with Sims collecting 17 and John Iams 15. Coutts of Scio was the leading scorer of the night with 24.

The other quarter-final berth went to Chambers Memorial of Wheeling which handed Marino's of Weirton a 65-56 setback. Santor and Bernhart led the winners with 15 and 14 each while Dave Fell's 16 points topped the Weirton five.

Semi-finals and finals will be played Saturday night.

OHIO STATE basketball coach Fred Taylor (center) was welcomed to Columbiana Wednesday night by Rich Berryman, head cage coach at Columbiana (left) and George Fisher, head football mentor. Taylor, named "coach-of-the-year" for the past two seasons, was guest speaker at a "Sports Appreciation Banquet" for Columbiana High athletes sponsored by the Boosters Club. More than 500 attended the dinner.

500 Hear Taylor At Clipper Fete

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

As a professional baseball player, Fred Taylor, head basketball coach at Ohio State University, told a huge gathering of over 500 at Columbiana Wednesday night that he was only "a caddy to Mickey Vernon" during his brief stay with the Washington Senators.

However, the likeable Buckeye mentor doesn't have to take a back seat in basketball, a sport where he has been named "coach-of-the-year" for the past two seasons and guided the Buckeyes to an NCAA championship and two runnerup spots in three campaigns.

TAYLOR, who can be comical in his own way and just as serious at other times, was guest speaker at the annual "Sports Appreciation Banquet" sponsored and handled in big league fashion by the Columbiana Boosters Club.

The banquet honored all the sports teams at Columbiana High School, including football, basketball, track and golf.

The dinner had a definite Ohio State flavor to it. Taylor was the guest speaker and was introduced by Bill Newell, the banquet chairman and a member of the 1950 Ohio State Rose Bowl squad.

Also on the same platform with Taylor and Newell was Jim Hague, the guy who kicked the winning field goal for the Buckeyes in the 1950 Rose Bowl. Newell is a native of Columbiana while Hague is from nearby Poland.

SPEAKING to the athletes, Taylor asked "What can you gain through athletics?"

The Ohio State coach pointed out five points that he felt were directly derived from participating in athletics. He listed "self-discipline, scholarship, punctuality, recognition and respect."

"An athlete must learn to discipline himself. It is a great sacrifice sometimes but much pride can be gained if an athlete knows he is in good condition by self-disciplining himself. Sometimes I don't think some athletes work hard enough on this point," he said.

"If a boy is a good athlete, he has a very good chance of also becoming a good scholar. They tie in together," Taylor pointed out.

"An athlete must learn to be punctual, by being on time for practice and games."

—:—

"ATHLETES must keep their standards high. They are recognized in their community and everybody looks to them as an idol," Taylor emphasized.

"Respect all ties into morale on a team. Teammates must have the highest respect for each other and the individual must have respect for his coach and most of all his parents," Taylor said.

Taylor has served as head basketball coach at OSU for four years. He is a former basketball star for the Buckeyes, playing from 1948-1950.

He was an All-American baseball player and following his graduation signed with Washington and was up briefly with the Senators after several good seasons in the minors. He went to Ohio State in 1953 as an assistant coach.

—:—

Fisher and Berryman in turn introduced members of the various squads.

The toastmaster was Dr. Chester W. Dewalt. Supt. D. W. Bailey and Ray Spiker, president of the Boosters Club, spoke briefly. The invocation and benediction was given by the Rev. H. J. Scheidemantle. Dr. K. P. Murphy led the group in the singing of the Star-Spangled Banner.

Newell and Don Gosney served as co-chairmen of the banquet.

Tickets are $2.25 for seats in the east and west bleachers and $1.50 for seats in the north and south bleachers.

WILLIE MAYS is greeted at home by teammates Orlando Cepeda (30) and batboy after clubbing a two-run homer in the first inning of Wednesday's game at San Francisco against the Milwaukee Braves. Mays clubbed the first pitch offered by Warren Spahn in Tuesday's opener and repeated Wednesday night, hitting Carl Willy's first pitch over the leftfield barrier. (UPI Telephoto)

Musial's Hitting Helps To Spoil Debut By Casey's Mets

Colts Top Cubs, 2-0; Willie Sparks Frisco

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

One game. Three hits. Another record. And a slap on the cheek for Father Time.

That's the way Stan Musial, 41, greeted the 1962 baseball campaign Wednesday night, leading the St. Louis Cardinals to an 11-4 opening game triumph over the debuting New York Mets.

Musial, whose batting average dipped to .288 last year and stirred talk of an impending battle with Father Time, poked three hits, drew a walk, drove in two runs and scored once for a perfect performance.

The run was the 1,859th of his 21-year career and tied the National League record established by the New York Giants' Mel Ott. Musial, who holds or shares 13 major league records, now has set or tied 38 NL marks.

Houston's new Colts won their second in succession with a 2-0 victory over Chicago. Sandy Koufax pitched a four-hitter as Los Angeles whipped Cincinnati 6-2 and Billy O'Dell checked Milwaukee on four hits for a 3-1 San Francisco victory. Philadelphia and Pittsburgh were rained out.

Musial's three hits and four by Julian Javier paced a 16-hit attack that backed Larry Jackson's route-going performance. The Red Birds won it with three in the third off Mets starter Roger Craig, Musial scoring the run that clinched it for St. Louis on Minnie Minoso's single. Jackson was tagged for homers by Charlie Neal and Gil Hodges.

Hal Smith's two-run single in the first inning off Cubs' ace Glen Hobbie proved the difference for the Colts with Hal Woodeshick and Dick Farrell combining for the shutout.

Koufax, usually a late starter who had only one previous April victory in his career, got off strong against the Reds. After leadoff hitter Eddie Kasko hit a double to open the game, Koufax pitched hitless ball until the ninth when Cincinnati scored twice. Jim Gilliam's two-run homer ignited a four-run Dodger uprising in the third inning that tagged Moe Drabowsky with the loss.

Willie Mays' two-run homer in the first inning off Braves' starter Carl Willey and Jose Pagan's solo shot in the second accounted for the Giants runs while O'Dell was firing 'em up. O'Dell, who struck out nine, had the bases empty when Eddie Mathews tagged him for a homer in the fourth.

Koufax Finds Form Early This Season

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Spring is the season when things start growing wild—usually none more so than Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

It used to be that Koufax could be counted on to have only one pitch down pat at this time of year. With that one he was amazingly consistent. It was always high and outside.

Then, last year, Koufax was suddenly throwing strikes, and it wasn't even Memorial Day yet. Koufax finally won a game in April last year, beating Cincinnati 5-3 with May still 10 days away.

Wednesday night the handsome lefthander did even better. Making his first start of the season, he pitched a one-hitter for eight innings and wound up with a four-hitter as the Dodgers defeated Cincinnati 6-2 in the first night attraction at the new stadium in Chavez Ravine.

For a time Wednesday night, it appeared Koufax would miss a no-hitter by the margin of a bloop double by leadoff man Eddie Kasko in the first inning.

The Reds didn't get another hit until the ninth, when singles by Vada Pinson and Wally Post and a double by Frank Robinson helped them score their only runs.

The Dodgers had gone ahead 4-0 in the third. Maury Wills touched Moe Drabowsky for a triple and Jim Gilliam followed with a 375-foot homer. Wally Moon walked and Duke Snider drove him in with a double.

A sacrifice fly by Ron Fairly brought in the fourth run of the inning and the Dodgers made it 5-0 in the fourth on a triple by Willie Davis and a sacrifice fly by Wills. Four straight walks by Dave Sisler gave Los Angeles another run in the fifth.

Cincinnaai plans to pit Joey Jay (0-1) against the Dodgers' Stan Williams (0-0) in the rubber game of the series tonight. After that the Reds travel north to San Francisco to battle the Giants Friday night.

Lucas Talks To Pipers But Not Contract

CLEVELAND (AP) — George Steinbrenner, president of the Cleveland Pipers of the American Basketball League, said today he did not discuss contract terms with All-America Jerry Lucas when the two met Wednesday in Columbus.

"It was just an informal meeting with only Lucas, a close friend of his and myself present," Steinbrenner said. "We talked about basketball, the league and his (Lucas') attitude toward playing professional basketball. Contract terms were not mentioned."

The Ohio State star has said he prefers entering business to playing professional ball, but that he would listen to all offers.

He told newsmen in Columbus following the meeting with the Pipers' president: "We just got acquainted and talked things over."

Steinbrenner said he and Lucas planned to get together in Cleveland next week, but a definite time was not set.

Tresh Opens In Hometown

NEW YORK (AP) — For most ballplayers, opening day is the time for butterflies and nervousness. But when the New York Yankees meet the Detroit Tigers in Detroit Friday afternoon, Tommy Tresh probably will be more excited than he was on opening day in New York.

For Tresh, Detroit is home and the Yankee rookie shortstop will be trying to make a good impression on his neighbors. He'll have one fan rooting especially hard for him. That would be ex-American league catcher Mike Tresh, who just happens to be Tommy's dad.

Mike has seen Tommy play before but right now his boy is Yankee shortstop and as Tommy puts it:

"For the first time, I feel like a major leaguer."

Tommy, a switch hitter, won the shortstop job in training camp after a spirited battle with roommate Phil Linz. The spot was opened when Tony Kubek was called into the Army last fall.

Last year with Richmond, Tresh batted .315, and was MVP in the International League. He hit .302 during spring training.

Sugar Ray, 42, Leaves On Caribbean Fight Tour

NEW YORK (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson, who celebrates his 42nd birthday on May 3, leaves today for Miami, Fla., en route to a four-stop boxing tour of the Caribbean area and South America.

The tour, which opens Saturday night in Georgetown, British Guiana, will help get the former welterweight and five-time middleweight champion in shape for a June bout with Terry Downes in London.

Robinson's advisor, George Gainford, confirmed Wednesday that had Downes successfully defended his share of the middleweight crown against Paul Pender last week, the June bout would have been for the title. Pender defeated Downes in Boston last Saturday.

"It would have been for the title all right," said Gainford. "That's why I was in Boston for the Pender-Downes fight. This will be real big in London, anyway. Ray has a magic name overseas."

So Robinson, whose long career includes 22 title fights in three divisions, will have to be content with a fat purse for his clash with the 25-year-old Downes.

West Virginia Boxer Eats, Talks A Little

BLUEFIELD, W.Va. (AP) — Eating fairly well and talking a little, heavyweight fighter Tunney Hunsaker was reported on the mend here Wednesday night.

Knocked out in the 10th round of a fight last Friday at Beckley, Hunsaker has undergone two brain operations.

Dr. E. L. Gage, who performed both operations, said the 32-year-old boxer's condition changed little Wednesday night, but he said Hunsaker was making progress, although very slowly.

Stengel Returns To NL, Finds Musial Still There

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Stan Musial—whose first major league game 21 years ago was against a Casey Stengel team—ruined Ol' Case's return to the National League by getting 3-for-3 Wednesday night.

Casey tried not to appear impressed.

"Yeah, he's still doin' the job—that's what they're paying him for," grunted Stengel after his New York Mets were clipped by the St. Louis Cardinals in their opener, 11-4.

"He's the only player left from my last time in the National League," (as Boston Braves manager) said the 71-year-old manager. "No wonder they keep him around."

Stan The Man added another record to his bulging file by scoring the 1,859th run of his career, equalling Mel Ott's National League record.

The 41-year-old Musial had two singles, a double and two runs batted in.

Musial now has his sights on Honus Wagner's National League career record of 3,340 hits. He need 27 more to break it and move into third place in the all-time list behind Tris Speakder and Ty Cobb.

"Let's get that one real quick, two hits at a time," Stan said, smiling. "You never know when fate might step in."

Musial now holds or shares 38 National League records and 13 major league records.

Detroit Stroh's Seek Revenge In ABC Event

DES MOINES (AP) — The Detroit Stroh's will be seeking revenge when they appear in the classic division of the American Bowling Congress tournament tonight.

The talented young team was leading the national match game championships in Kansas City by a large margin last November, but they were beaten three straight games in the final block and had to settle for second place. The winner was Don Carter Gloves of St. Louis, the same teach which is currently leading the classic division of the ABC with a six game total of 6248.

The Stroh's are perhaps the last major threat to the Carters. The 69-day tournament ends April 26.

Nels Stewart of the Montreal Maroons scored two goals in four seconds against the Boston Bruins in 1931. It's still a National Hockey League record.

Nine members of the 1961 Syracuse football team have signed professional contracts.

$1.5 Million Lost In ABL

HONOLULU (AP)—Abe Saperstein, American Basketball League commissioner said today the league lost an estimated $1.5 million during its first season.

"I don't really look on it as a loss, but rather an investment," Saperstein said. "We look for improvement next year."

He called the 1961-62 season an "artistic success," and declined to break down losses of individual teams.

Saperstein said Long Beach, Calif., which will replace the defunct Los Angeles franchise, looks like a very strong operation. "and there is a possibility the league will expand to nine teams with Dallas coming in," he added.

Senator May Stop Game To Get Blue Law Revised

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Don't be surprised if a man walks in with a writ at Detroit Sunday and stops the baseball game between the New York Yankees and the Tigers.

State Sen. John P. Smeekens says he may do it if the Senate doesn't go along with his contention that Michigan's Sunday blue laws need revising.

But only if the Tigers are way behind before the fifth inning. Smeekens is backer of a bill that would shut down most retail stores on Sunday in Michigan's more populous counties. At the same time, the bill would change the present law which forbids sports and sports spectating on Sunday.

The unenforced 1846 law forbids people "to take part in any sport, game or play" on Sunday. The law also provides that "no person shall be present at any game, sport, play or public diversion" on the Sabbath.

"I'll only seek the writ if the Senate kills the bill before Sunday," Smeekens said. "Then I'd bet they would be back reviving the bill on Monday.

Musial's Hitting Helps To Spoil Debut By Casey's Mets

Colts Top Cubs, 2-0; Willie Sparks Frisco

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

One game. Three hits. Another record. And a slap on the cheek for Father Time.

That's the way Stan Musial, 41, greeted the 1962 baseball campaign Wednesday night, leading the St. Louis Cardinals to an 11-4 opening game triumph over the debuting New York Mets.

Musial, whose batting average dipped to .288 last year and stirred talk of an impending battle with Father Time, poked three hits, drew a walk, drove in two runs and scored once for a perfect performance.

The run was the 1,859th of his 21-year career and tied the National League record established by the New York Giants' Mel Ott. Musial, who holds or shares 13 major league records, now has set or tied 38 NL marks.

Houston's new Colts won their second in succession with a 2-0 victory over Chicago. Sandy Koufax pitched a four-hitter as Los Angeles whipped Cincinnati 6-2 and Billy O'Dell checked Milwaukee on four hits for a 3-1 San Francisco victory. Philadelphia and Pittsburgh were rained out.

Musial's three hits and four by Julian Javier paced a 16-hit attack that backed Larry Jackson's route-going performance. The Red Birds won it with three in the third off Mets starter Roger Craig, Musial scoring the run that clinched it for St. Louis on Minnie Minoso's single. Jackson was tagged for homers by Charlie Neal and Gil Hodges.

Hal Smith's two-run single in the first inning off Cubs' ace Glen Hobbie proved the difference for the Colts with Hal Woodeshick and Dick Farrell combining for the shutout.

Koufax, usually a late starter who had only one previous April victory in his career, got off strong against the Reds. After leadoff hitter Eddie Kasko hit a double to open the game, Koufax pitched hitless ball until the ninth when Cincinnati scored twice. Jim Gilliam's two-run homer ignited a four-run Dodger uprising in the third inning that tagged Moe Drabowsky with the loss.

Willie Mays' two-run homer in the first inning off Braves' starter Carl Willey and Jose Pagan's solo shot in the second accounted for the Giants runs while O'Dell was firing 'em up. O'Dell, who struck out nine, had the bases empty when Eddie Mathews tagged him for a homer in the fourth.

Koufax Finds Form Early This Season

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Spring is the season when things start growing wild—usually none more so than Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

It used to be that Koufax could be counted on to have only one pitch down pat at this time of year. With that one he was amazingly consistent. It was always high and outside.

Then, last year, Koufax was suddenly throwing strikes, and it wasn't even Memorial Day yet. Koufax finally won a game in April last year, beating Cincinnati 5-3 with May still 10 days away.

Wednesday night the handsome lefthander did even better. Making his first start of the season, he pitched a one-hitter for eight innings and wound up with a four-hitter as the Dodgers defeated Cincinnati 6-2 in the first night attraction at the new stadium in Chavez Ravine.

For a time Wednesday night, it appeared Koufax would miss a no-hitter by the margin of a bloop double by leadoff man Eddie Kasko in the first inning.

The Reds didn't get another hit until the ninth, when singles by Vada Pinson and Wally Post and a double by Frank Robinson helped them score their only runs.

The Dodgers had gone ahead 4-0 in the third. Maury Wills touched Moe Drabowsky for a triple and Jim Gilliam followed with a 375-foot homer. Wally Moon walked and Duke Snider drove him in with a double.

A sacrifice fly by Ron Fairly brought in the fourth run of the inning and the Dodgers made it 5-0 in the fourth on a triple by Willie Davis and a sacrifice fly by Wills. Four straight walks by Dave Sisler gave Los Angeles another run in the fifth.

Cincinnaai plans to pit Joey Jay (0-1) against the Dodgers' Stan Williams (0-0) in the rubber game of the series tonight. After that the Reds travel north to San Francisco to battle the Giants Friday night.

Senator May Stop Game To Get Blue Law Revised

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Don't be surprised if a man walks in with a writ at Detroit Sunday and stops the baseball game between the New York Yankees and the Tigers.

State Sen. John P. Smeekens says he may do it if the Senate doesn't go along with his contention that Michigan's Sunday blue laws need revising.

But only if the Tigers are way behind before the fifth inning. Smeekens is backer of a bill that would shut down most retail stores on Sunday in Michigan's more populous counties. At the same time, the bill would change the present law which forbids sports and sports spectating on Sunday.

The unenforced 1846 law forbids people "to take part in any sport, game or play" on Sunday. The law also provides that "no person shall be present at any game, sport, play or public diversion" on the Sabbath.

"I'll only seek the writ if the Senate kills the bill before Sunday," Smeekens said. "Then I'd bet they would be back reviving the bill on Monday.

Lucas Talks To Pipers But Not Contract

CLEVELAND (AP) — George Steinbrenner, president of the Cleveland Pipers of the American Basketball League, said today he did not discuss contract terms with All-America Jerry Lucas when the two met Wednesday in Columbus.

"It was just an informal meeting with only Lucas, a close friend of his and myself present," Steinbrenner said. "We talked about basketball, the league and his (Lucas') attitude toward playing professional basketball. Contract terms were not mentioned."

The Ohio State star has said he prefers entering business to playing professional ball, but that he would listen to all offers.

He told newsmen in Columbus following the meeting with the Pipers' president: "We just got acquainted and talked things over."

Steinbrenner said he and Lucas planned to get together in Cleveland next week, but a definite time was not set.

Tresh Opens In Hometown

NEW YORK (AP) — For most ballplayers, opening day is the time for butterflies and nervousness. But when the New York Yankees meet the Detroit Tigers in Detroit Friday afternoon, Tommy Tresh probably will be more excited than he was on opening day in New York.

For Tresh, Detroit is home and the Yankee rookie shortstop will be trying to make a good impression on his neighbors. He'll have one fan rooting especially hard for him. That would be ex-American league catcher Mike Tresh, who just happens to be Tommy's dad.

Mike has seen Tommy play before but right now his boy is Yankee shortstop and as Tommy puts it:

"For the first time, I feel like a major leaguer."

Tommy, a switch hitter, won the shortstop job in training camp after a spirited battle with roommate Phil Linz. The spot was opened when Tony Kubek was called into the Army last fall.

Last year with Richmond, Tresh batted .315, and was MVP in the International League. He hit .302 during spring training.

Sugar Ray, 42, Leaves On Caribbean Fight Tour

NEW YORK (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson, who celebrates his 42nd birthday on May 3, leaves today for Miami, Fla., en route to a four-stop boxing tour of the Caribbean area and South America.

The tour, which opens Saturday night in Georgetown, British Guiana, will help get the former welterweight and five-time middleweight champion in shape for a June bout with Terry Downes in London.

Robinson's advisor, George Gainford, confirmed Wednesday that had Downes successfully defended his share of the middleweight crown against Paul Pender last week, the June bout would have been for the title. Pender defeated Downes in Boston last Saturday.

"It would have been for the title all right," said Gainford. "That's why I was in Boston for the Pender-Downes fight. This will be real big in London, anyway. Ray has a magic name overseas."

So Robinson, whose long career includes 22 title fights in three divisions, will have to be content with a fat purse for his clash with the 25-year-old Downes.

West Virginia Boxer Eats. Talks A Little

BLUEFIELD, W.Va. (AP) — Eating fairly well and talking a little, heavyweight fighter Tunney Hunsaker was reported on the mend here Wednesday night.

Knocked out in the 10th round of a fight last Friday at Beckley, Hunsaker has undergone two brain operations.

Dr. E. L. Gage, who performed both operations, said the 32-year-old boxer's condition changed little Wednesday night, but he said Hunsaker was making progress, although very slowly.

Theft

he turned his cruiser around at 1st Ave. to give chase. About a block away, he halted the truck. The driver, under questioning, said he was taking two men to Midland.

The officer asked the two men to get out of the truck and show themselves, but they refused. The driver alighted and the patrolman was able to see the two passengers. Nothing that they fitted the description of the two who had been in the station, he ordered them onto the street.

He said he saw one of the men make a movement with his hand as though to place something under the seat.

Officer Carter than handcuffed the two suspects and put all three men in his cruiser. Searching underneath the seat of the truck, he found the money on the right side and the cashbox on the left side, he said.

Chief Americo J. Radeschi commended Officer Carter for his alertness in apprehending the pair.

"This is an example of good police work, a credit to the department," the chief said.

Officer

lengthy hearing that Owen conducted at his office in City Hall.

The order from the chief suspended the officer without setting the length of the period of time off. The director conducted the hearing in compliance with state law, which says he may affirm, disaffirm or modify the chief's order.

In upholding the chief's order, he also set the length of ths suspension.

The chief's letter to the patrolman said:

"This is to notify you that you are hereby suspended as a member of the police department, effective immediately. Said suspension is made for reasonable and just cause, to wit: Gross neglect of duty.

"Said gross neglect of duty is based upon the fact that you failed to report for duty on Sunday at midnight to 8 a.m. April 8 on your scheduled shift."

Owen said Hayes' suspension takes effect Monday, the day the order was served on the officer by the chief. It will end on April 24, the director said.

Law gives the officer the right to appeal the director's decision to the Municipal Civil Service Commission. The director said there was no indication of an appeal.

VFW Council Sets Election

Plans for election of officers were made at a meeting of the Columbiana County VFW Council Wednesday night at Lisbon Post 4111.

The election will be held Wednesday, May 9, at East Palestine Post 4579.

Seven of the nine members posts were represented. It was reported another post has reached 100 per cent membership goal, leaving three member posts deficient. As a whole, the county has surpassed the 100 per cent mark, the council said.

James Rhodes, service officer, said Columbiana County commissions had allotted additional funds to the Soldiers and Sailors Relief Commission. He reported there is a movement in Columbus to take the jurisdiction of the commission away from the servicemen and put it in the Welfare Department.

The VFW has been opposing such a move.

Three members, Don Bowlen and Sam Brown of Wellsville and Harold Keefer Jr. of Salem, were reported ill.

Emmett Daniels of Wellsville, commander, conducted business.

Complaining Witness Jailed As Aftermath Of Title Case

Three criminal cases, one current and two heard previously, were all tangled up together in a hearing conducted today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, which wound up with a fine for the defendant in the current case and a jail sentence for the complaining witness.

Robert Savors of Dresden Ave. was fined $100 and costs on a charge he sold a 1957 convertible on Feb. 4 to Gordon Reynolds of Negley R. D. 1 and failed to deliver a certificate of title.

Then Reynolds was ordered returned to the County Jail to serve the balance of a 60-day term imposed on Feb. 25 when he was convicted of a 105-mile-an-hour drag race on the East Liverpool-Wellsville "super-road."

Judge Chertoff had suspended the balance of the term on March 20 when Reynolds' wife appeared before him, declaring that she and her five children were without support and would be forced to go on relief unless Reynolds was released from jail.

The judge was angered when Reynolds testified during the title case that he gave $36 to Savors the day he was released from jail, rather than using it for his family's support. Reynolds also testified that he drove to Detroit, apparently forgetting that his operator's permit had been suspended for six months in the "drag race" case.

"I let you out of jail because your wife told me she and your five children were without food and the youngsters could not go to school because they had no shoes," the judge told Reynolds. He asserted that he believed Reynolds persuaded his wife to tell the judge the story solely to get Reynolds out of jail.

Reynolds originally was due April 6 to testify against Savors in the title case, but he had vanished. The preceding night, according to an affidavit on file in Judge Herbert Arfman's court in East Palestine, he beat his wife and threatened her with a gun.

Savors was a co-defendant with Reynolds in the "drag race" charge. However, the charge against Savors was dismissed for lack of evidence after a hearing. Both cars used in the race were in Savors' name.

In the title case today, Reynolds testified he bought the 1957 car from Savors for $980. He said he made a down payment, traded in two cars and was to pay the balance monthly. Although he asked for the title on several occasions, Savors did not deliver it, he testified.

Hall China Given Special Award On Safety Record

An East Liverpool pottery and three Salem firms received special awards for establishing records without a lost-time accident at the 12th annual Columbiana County Safety Committee's awards banquet at the Masonic Temple in Salem Wednesday night.

The Hall China Co. was recognized for its safety record from Nov. 1, 1960, to Nov. 30, 1961. Other recipients were the Electric Furnace Co., the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. and the Mullins Manufacturing Co.

Five area firms were presented triple awards at the banquet sponsored by the Industrial Commission of Ohio and the Salem Manufacturers Association.

Awards were issued to the firms as leaders in their groups, establishing one-year work records without a lost-time accident and making improvements over the previous year.

Winners were the Salem News, the Salem Tool Co., the Production Foundry Co. of Columbiana, Fitzpatrick Industries, Inc., of East Palestine and the Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Co. of Columbiana.

Edmund Harding, the "Tar Heel Humorist," of Washington, N. C., was guest speaker at the dinner attended by a capacity crowd of 380.

Interspersing his seious commentary with anecdotes, the speaker, who is rated by Speakers Bureaus as "the nearest thing to Will Rogers," told how to avoid some of the daily hazards of the work-day world. His topic was "Safety Is a Habit."

Theft

he turned his cruiser around at 1st Ave. to give chase. About a block away, he halted the truck. The driver, under questioning, said he was taking two men to Midland.

The officer asked the two men to get out of the truck and show themselves, but they refused. The driver alighted and the patrolman was able to see the two passengers. Nothing that they fitted the description of the two who had been in the station, he ordered them onto the street.

He said he saw one of the men make a movement with his hand as though to place something under the seat.

Officer Carter than handcuffed the two suspects and put all three men in his cruiser. Searching underneath the seat of the truck, he found the money on the right side and the cashbox on the left side, he said.

Chief Americo J. Radeschi commended Officer Carter for his alertness in apprehending the pair.

"This is an example of good police work, a credit to the department," the chief said.

Officer

lengthy hearing that Owen conducted at his office in City Hall.

The order from the chief suspended the officer without setting the length of the period of time off. The director conducted the hearing in compliance with state law, which says he may affirm, disaffirm or modify the chief's order.

In upholding the chief's order, he also set the length of ths suspension.

The chief's letter to the patrolman said:

"This is to notify you that you are hereby suspended as a member of the police department, effective immediately. Said suspension is made for reasonable and just cause, to wit: Gross neglect of duty.

"Said gross neglect of duty is based upon the fact that you failed to report for duty on Sunday at midnight to 8 a.m. April 8 on your scheduled shift."

Owen said Hayes' suspension takes effect Monday, the day the order was served on the officer by the chief. It will end on April 24, the director said.

Law gives the officer the right to appeal the director's decision to the Municipal Civil Service Commission. The director said there was no indication of an appeal.

VFW Council Sets Election

Plans for election of officers were made at a meeting of the Columbiana County VFW Council Wednesday night at Lisbon Post 4111.

The election will be held Wednesday, May 9, at East Palestine Post 4579.

Seven of the nine members posts were represented. It was reported another post has reached 100 per cent membership goal, leaving three member posts deficient. As a whole, the county has surpassed the 100 per cent mark, the council said.

James Rhodes, service officer, said Columbiana County commissions had allotted additional funds to the Soldiers and Sailors Relief Commission. He reported there is a movement in Columbus to take the jurisdiction of the commission away from the servicemen and put it in the Welfare Department.

The VFW has been opposing such a move.

Three members, Don Bowlen and Sam Brown of Wellsville and Harold Keefer Jr. of Salem, were reported ill.

Emmett Daniels of Wellsville, commander, conducted business.

Complaining Witness Jailed As Aftermath Of Title Case

Three criminal cases, one current and two heard previously, were all tangled up together in a hearing conducted today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, which wound up with a fine for the defendant in the current case and a jail sentence for the complaining witness.

Robert Savors of Dresden Ave. was fined $100 and costs on a charge he sold a 1957 convertible on Feb. 4 to Gordon Reynolds of Negley R. D. 1 and failed to deliver a certificate of title.

Then Reynolds was ordered returned to the County Jail to serve the balance of a 60-day term imposed on Feb. 25 when he was convicted of a 105-mile-an-hour drag race on the East Liverpool-Wellsville "super-road."

Judge Chertoff had suspended the balance of the term on March 20 when Reynolds' wife appeared before him, declaring that she and her five children were without support and would be forced to go on relief unless Reynolds was released from jail.

The judge was angered when Reynolds testified during the title case that he gave $36 to Savors the day he was released from jail, rather than using it for his family's support. Reynolds also testified that he drove to Detroit, apparently forgetting that his operator's permit had been suspended for six months in the "drag race" case.

"I let you out of jail because your wife told me she and your five children were without food and the youngsters could not go to school because they had no shoes," the judge told Reynolds. He asserted that he believed Reynolds persuaded his wife to tell the judge the story solely to get Reynolds out of jail.

Reynolds originally was due April 6 to testify against Savors in the title case, but he had vanished. The preceding night, according to an affidavit on file in Judge Herbert Arfman's court in East Palestine, he beat his wife and threatened her with a gun.

Savors was a co-defendant with Reynolds in the "drag race" charge. However, the charge against Savors was dismissed for lack of evidence after a hearing. Both cars used in the race were in Savors' name.

In the title case today, Reynolds testified he bought the 1957 car from Savors for $980. He said he made a down payment, traded in two cars and was to pay the balance monthly. Although he asked for the title on several occasions, Savors did not deliver it, he testified.

New WVU Head Advocates Five-Year Plans For School

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) — Dr. Paul A. Miller, inaugurated as the 15th president of West Virginia University Wednesday, advocated two five-year programs of development for the school.

The 45-year-old Miller, who left a post as provost of Michigan State University to take the $30,000-a-year presidency, proposed the immediate start of a two-year planning effort to develop a "10-year master plan" for the institution.

Unfavorable weather conditions curtailed some of the ceremonies. The traditional cap-and-gown academic procession was dropped.

Forest H. Kirkpatrick of Wheeling, president of the university Board of Governors, inducted Miller without the pre - ceremony march. He also read a letter of congratulations to Dr. Miller from President Kennedy.

Miller said one of WVU's needs "is that it continue to move quickly as it already is from any remnant of the role of training ground and employment center" for other states.

He added that the guideline for the development of WVU are clear. "I urge the goal of improving research and scholarship, graduate and professional study."

Miller also saw a need for "a series of regional arrangements in West Virginia, located in appropriate institutions wherever possible, so that the university and state college and university system may combine strengths."

President Sends Miller 'Best Wishes'

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. — Among the congratulatory messages which poured in to Dr. Paul A. Miller yesterday at his inauguration as president of West Virginia University was one from President Kennedy.

Kennedy's letter read:

"I extend congratulations and good wishes to West Virginia University and to the new president, Dr. Paul A. Miller, whose distinguished record as provost at Michigan State University indicates that he has the ability, energy and vision to give the university the strong and wise leadership it merits."

Three former governors of West Virginia and two former WVU presidents were on the platform as the 45-year-old Miller was installed as the school's 15th president.

In attendance were former Govs. Homer A. Holt, Okey L. Patteson and Cecil H. Underwood, along with former West Virginia University presidents Dr. Irvin Stewart and Dr. Charles E. Lawall.

Chester Mayor Ray Collins attended the inauguration and reception for Miller.

Just stir the other dry ingredients together with Robin Hood Flour to blend. No sifting here either. Not only does this new way of baking with Robin Hood save time and trouble but you actually get better, tastier baking, too.

Robin Hood is the only flour that promises you no more sifting and better baking, too. Only because of Robin Hood's unusually high quality and uniformity and because it is pre-sifted through micro-fine silk, can we make you this promise.

Beaver County Health Council Will Be Formed

A health and welfare council for Beaver County will become a reality with 25 residents planning to organize a Board of Directors, secure a charter and ask the United Funds of Beaver County for annual financial support.

They represent 150 others who have considered such a project for more than two years. The group completed its fact finding study and Tuesday voted to begin final steps.

Atty. Edward J. McClain, chairman, said although present plans call for a separate chartered health and welfare agency, it will work closely with the United Fund, its affiliated agencies and all other groups, both voluntary and tax supported.

Mayor Eli Corak and School Supt. Ralph H. Jewell of Midland are members of the "ad hoc" advisory committee, along with other civic leaders in the county.

By early fall, the committee plans to invite all interested persons to an open forum when the proposed council's program and structure will be explained. Specific backing and help will be sought.

Wells High Band Concert To Be Given On Friday

"Festival of Melody," annual program of the music department of Wells High School at Newell, will be held Friday night at 8 with 165 vocalists and instrumentalists participating.

E. Russell Slack, principal, said the three-part concert will feature the girls chorus of 75 voices, the 30-piece Jefferson School Junior Band and the Wells High School Concert Band of 60 musicians.

The program will consist of popular music from plays and classical selections with John L. Clark, school music director, in charge.

Face Trial In Murder

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two Cleveland youths will stand trial on first-degree murder charges for the holdup slaying of a service station attendant Feb. 18. Westgate PTA Mothers Sing At Program Of Last Session

A program in three parts, to selections of the Mother Singers, highlighted the Westgate Parent-Teacher Association's final meeting of the term Tuesday evening at the school.

The first part consisted of fashions. Members of the faculty modeled hand-tailored suits to the background music of "Easter Parade," teen-age girls modeled evening wear to "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody;" Westgate Junior High girls modeled several spring hat creations to "Somewhere Over the Rainbow" and rainwear was shown to the melody, "April Showers."

A comedy act featured the second part as mothers modeled outfits including sleep-wear, worn by Miss America to the tune of "Miss America."

The third part was a hillbilly kitchen band in which all 25 members of the singers participated, playing homemade instruments.

Participants were introduced by Mrs. Robert Calhoun, program chairman. Miss Burdine Bowman, music instructor at the Westgate Elementary School, directed the program.

Officers were elected during the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Dale Franklin, retiring president.

The new officers are Mrs. Gerald Manley, president; Thomas Doherty, vice president; Mrs. Daun Gitschier, secretary; Miss Mary Hohmann, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John Scott, treasurer; William Persohn, historian, and Mrs. Robert Hillyard and Mrs. Ray Rigdon, delegates to the County PTA Council. Supt. Ralph Betts installed the new officers.

Wilbur Shaffer and Dale Franklin and Mrs. Charles Brookes were appointed to the auditing committee.

The unit agreed to assist in financing an outing for the patrol boys who served this school term.

Mrs. Manley and Mrs. Calhoun, delegates to the East District PTA Conference, held in Steubenville recently, gave reports and said 26 attended.

Lunch was served in the cafeteria by Mrs. Donald Raber, chairman of the homeroom mothers, and committee.

The theme is "No Greater Love." The chorus is comprised of 101 persons from communities throughout southern Beaver County.

Participating in solo selections will be Mrs. Fay Septer, Miss Juanita Howells, Mrs. Martha Shiviler, Mrs. Margie Stanley, Mrs. Ruth Leeper, Mrs. Wayne Ewing, Mrs. Wayne Taormina, Wesley Campbell and Robert Butler.

Miss Rita Drake will be organist and Mrs. Beulah Ewing pianist.

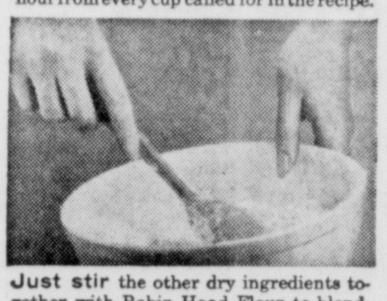
Spoon Robin Hood Flour right from the bag. You don't have to sift ever because Robin Hood is already pre-sifted through micro-fine silk. For old style sifting recipes take out one level tablespoon of flour from every cup called for in the recipe.



Just stir the other dry ingredients together with Robin Hood Flour to blend. No sifting here either. Not only does this new way of baking with Robin Hood save time and trouble but you actually get better, tastier baking, too.

Robin Hood is the only flour that promises you no more sifting and better baking, too. Only because of Robin Hood's unusually high quality and uniformity and because it is pre-sifted through micro-fine silk, can we make you this promise.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

A Hairy Lawyer Sneezes Through Breakfast

James Whitmore—the shaggy-faced fellow you may remember as the sergeant in "Battle-ground," or the man who surrendered to bigotry in the TV version of "Focus," or Abraham Lincoln Jones, the hero of a series called "The Law and Mr. Jones" — is a symphony in hair.

Alan Gill

Encountered in a hotel room at 9 a.m., just a few minutes after he had climbed into a bathrobe and a pair of large slippers, Mr. Whitmore was the essence of rumpledness: A hulking teddy bear rather badly stuffed with excelsior and coming apart at the seams.

-:-

HE WALKED like a football player out to strike fear into the hearts of the enemy line—a stalking motion that is partly the result of the two severe knee injuries he suffered in his football days. Back at Yale, that was.

The hirsute and ominous aspects of the man are gone into here only because they have helped him immeasurably, I think, in his chosen career, which is acting.

He isn't a pretty-boy matinee idol, he's an individualist, a good actor and an intelligent and likeable person.

ABC-TV put on "The Law and Mr. Jones" during the 1960-61 season in a later Friday night time spot. At season's end, the series, which concerned itself with the courthouse adventures of a lawyer in a big city, was quietly dropped.

-:-

AND THEN, in the hush, a strange thing happened. A few letters of protest came in from people who were just a little annoyed at the network's decision.

Then there were more letters, and more—half a million in all. ABC, gazing up at that Matterhorn of protest, capitulated.

Abraham Lincoln Jones has gone out and made seven more episodes and will make another six for presentation this spring, in the most surprising comeback recorded since Cleopatra returned in the guise of Mehitabel the cat.

We have our first show coming next Thursday," Mr. Whitmore said, through the medley of sneezes that comprise his regular early-morning routine.

"The episodes will be stronger this year. The first three programs, for instance, have to do with the abuse of a free press, the obligation of a citizen to dissent, and the character study of a racist."

-:-

DOES THE SHOW, he was asked, ever indulge in a little violence?

"No, no," Whitmore said. "The hero doesn't rough anybody up on the program. Of course," he added, "between takes, there's always a fellow on the set I kick around. As soon as the camera stops, I go over and beat him up."

Acting, says Whitmore, is a worrisome thing these days.

"Everybody's sitting around out there wondering where the next job is coming from. Television programs are going from a half hour to an hour, so that's just 50 per cent fewer jobs to go around.

"I'd like to do a play. Man, I'd like to do a play! I'll be in stock this summer with a new comedy by Max Wilk.

"And Sy Gomberg, who produces the television series, and I are going to make a couple of movies. One of them is based on Howard Fast's 'Tony and the Wonderful Door.' We'll make a musical out of it."

-:-

MR. WHITMORE is, a visitor suggested, one of the few actors around who hurls himself into a role and takes a few acting risks.

"Yeah, maybe I chewed it up in 'Focus.' You know that program got a lot of complaints—from Jewish groups who thought, I guess, that it was a little overstated. I know what you mean. I overact at times."

No, no, said the visitor, not under OR overact, just ACT.

"Well," Whitmore said, "it's a good life."

Before he joined Yale's undergraduate acting group, the Dramat—and before those knee injuries in football—James Whit- a lawyer.

Well, he hangs out his shingle next Thursday. Again.

Smith Heads LaCroft PTA

Allan Smith was elected president of the LaCroft Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday evening at the school.

Others include Glenn Rutledge, re-elected vice president; Mrs. Dolores Taubert, secretary, and Mrs. Jean Watson, treasurer. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Thorn were elected Federation delegates.

They will be installed at the final meeting of the term, a smorgasbord dinner, May 15.

The dinner will be served by a committee headed by Mrs. Eileen Purinton and Mrs. Verla Davis. Mrs. Purinton called a committee meeting April 25 at 1 p. m.

Business was conducted by Rutledge and a donation was made to Cancer Fund and $25 was allocated for replacement of worn playground equipment.

The audit committee was instructed to conduct an annual audit May 4 and report at the final meeting.

Members of the sixth grade presented a choral reading.

Paul Burrows, a teacher at Westgate School, spoke on behalf of the sixth graders and their parents on the topic, "What Next?"

The attendance banner was won by Mrs. Helen McDonald's fourth grade.

Refreshments were served by the fifth grade homeroom mothers with Mrs. Bernice Deem chairman.

Transfers Requested For 3 Liquor Permits

Applications for transfer of Ohio Department of Liquor Control licenses for a city bar and two area taverns are being processed, officials of the department announced at Columbus.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Reading Habit Should Be Cultivated

A great many children seldom, if ever, enter a library. They are too far away from one or their parents and teachers have never taken or lured them to a library. Parents who consider visits by their children to a library important will drive these children great distances, if necessary, or go with them by other transportation, so they really can go into a library, even to a bookmobile, and see all the books there and choose some they would like to borrow and take home to read. These parents will also go with their children to the best bookstore they can find and let them select some they would like to buy, so as to build up a good home library of their own.

WISE PARENTS WON'T wait till the oldest child is in school to go with him to a library. They will take him there by the time he is two or three. With the help of the librarian, they will show him some books with pictures he will like, and will read a bit to him right there from a few of them.

It's wonderful when the tot receives a card on which his books are listed. Then he may be preparing to have and often use a library card all the rest of his life.

The day will come when in almost any public library one may see scores of parents with their young children.

Whether your child is three, six or 14, he will grow more eager to go to the library if you parents also borrow books there for yourselves. Any child is more likely to read a great deal at home if he often sees his parents reading there.

EVEN BEFORE MOST parents go with their toddlers to a library, they prepare them for this pleasant experience by reading to them at home. After these children enter school, their parents will keep on reading to them and stimulate and help them to learn to read well themselves.

It's not enough to provide our growing children with lots of good books. We also need to find ways to help these children learn to read well, so as to enjoy reading more and more books.

Furthermore, we need to reduce or prevent home distractions like TV and make sure that regular periods for reading are available.

In some cases, parents will require their child to read from other than his schoolbooks for half an hour, even an hour, every day.

My bulletins, "Why Read to Baby and Young Child" and "Home Helps in Reading," may be had by sending a self - addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Federal Income Tax Office Will Be Open Monday

Area taxpayers were warned today they must file their 1961 federal income tax returns by midnight Monday to avoid penalties and interest charges.

District Director Melvin J. Burton at Cleveland estimated some 700,000 still must file. Nearly 1½ million already have filed and 735,000 refund checks totaling $102,466,497 have been mailed, he said.

Because the April 15 deadline this year falls on Sunday, the deadline is advanced automatically until Monday. Returns postmarked by midnight Monday will be accepted.

Burton warned no district offices, including East Liverpool, will be open for assistance on Saturday but all will be open Monday to aid taxpayers in filing their returns. The offices will close at 5 p. m. Monday, he added.

The East Liverpool office will be open Friday as usual to aid taxpayers but officials suggested phone calls rather than personal visits. Hours both days will be 8:15 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Liquor-By-Drink Issue Debated By Lawyer, Pastor

WHEELING (AP) — A lawyer and a minister — each poles apart on the liquor-by-the-drink question debated the issue amicably before about 500 persons here Wednesday night. And, although this section of the state is regarded as one wets' strongest areas of public support, each speaker was warmly applauded.

Arguing in favor of the amendment, which will be submitted to the voters in November, was Chester R. Hubbard, a Republican who represents Ohio County in the House of Delegates. Taking the opposite view was the Rev. L. E. Crowson, a Methodist minister who heads the Citizens Committee for Defeat of the Liquor Amendment.

Each spokesman read an opening statement loaded with satistics and other information designed to prove his own viewpoint. The speakers then answered questions from the audience and presented closing remarks.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

A Hairy Lawyer Sneezes Through Breakfast

James Whitmore—the shaggy-faced fellow you may remember as the sergeant in "Battleground," or the man who surrendered to bigotry in the TV version of "Focus," or Abraham Lincoln Jones, the hero of a series called "The Law and Mr. Jones" — is a symphony in hair.

Alan Gill

Encountered in a hotel room at 9 a.m., just a few minutes after he had climbed into a bathrobe and a pair of large slippers, Mr. Whitmore was the essence of rumpledness: A hulking teddy bear rather badly stuffed with excelsior and coming apart at the seams.

-:-

HE WALKED like a football player out to strike fear into the hearts of the enemy line—a stalking motion that is partly the result of the two severe knee injuries he suffered in his football days. Back at Yale, that was.

The hirsute and ominous aspects of the man are gone into here only because they have helped him immeasurably, I think, in his chosen career, which is acting.

He isn't a pretty-boy matinee idol, he's an individualist, a good actor and an intelligent and likeable person.

ABC-TV put on "The Law and Mr. Jones" during the 1960-61 season in a later Friday night time spot. At season's end, the series, which concerned itself with the courthouse adventures of a lawyer in a big city, was quietly dropped.

-:-

AND THEN, in the hush, a strange thing happened. A few letters of protest came in from people who were just a little annoyed at the network's decision.

Then there were more letters, and more—half a million in all. ABC, gazing up at that Matterhorn of protest, capitulated.

Abraham Lincoln Jones has gone out and made seven more episodes and will make another six for presentation this spring, in the most surprising comeback recorded since Cleopatra returned in the guise of Mehitabel the cat.

We have our first show coming next Thursday," Mr. Whitmore said, through the medley of sneezes that comprise his regular early-morning routine.

"The episodes will be stronger this year. The first three programs, for instance, have to do with the abuse of a free press, the obligation of a citizen to dissent, and the character study of a racist."

-:-

DOES THE SHOW, he was asked, ever indulge in a little violence?

"No, no," Whitmore said. "The hero doesn't rough anybody up on the program. Of course" he added, "between takes, there's always a fellow on the set I kick around. As soon as the camera stops, I go over and beat him up."

Acting, says Whitmore, is a worrisome thing these days.

"Everybody's sitting around out there wondering where the next job is coming from. Television programs are going from a half hour to an hour, so that's just 50 per cent fewer jobs to go around.

"I'd like to do a play. Man, I'd like to do a play! I'll be in stock this summer with a new comedy by Max Wilk.

"And Sy Gomberg, who produces the television series, and I are going to make a couple of movies. One of them is based on Howard Fast's 'Tony and the Wonderful Door.' We'll make a musical out of it."

-:-

MR. WHITMORE is, a visitor suggested, one of the few actors around who hurls himself into a role and takes a few acting risks.

"Yeah, maybe I chewed it up in 'Focus.' You know that program got a lot of complaints—from Jewish groups who thought, I guess, that it was a little overstated. I know what you mean. I overact at times."

No, no, said the visitor, not under OR overact, just ACT.

"Well," Whitmore said, "it's a good life."

Before he joined Yale's undergraduate acting group, the Dramat—and before those knee injuries in football—James Whit- a lawyer.

Well, he hangs out his shingle next Thursday. Again.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Reading Habit Should Be Cultivated

A great many children seldom, if ever, enter a library. They are too far away from one or their parents and teachers have never taken or lured them to a library. Parents who consider visits by their children to a library important will drive these children great distances, if necessary, or go with them by other transportation, so they really can go into a library, even to a bookmobile, and see all the books there and choose some they would like to borrow and take home to read. These parents will also go with their children to the best bookstore they can find and let them select some they would like to buy, so as to build up a good home library of their own.

WISE PARENTS WON'T wait till the oldest child is in school to go with him to a library. They will take him there by the time he is two or three. With the help of the librarian, they will show him some books with pictures he will like, and will read a bit to him right there from a few of them.

It's wonderful when the tot receives a card on which his books are listed. Then he may be preparing to have and often use a library card all the rest of his life.

The day will come when in almost any public library one may see scores of parents with their young children.

Whether your child is three, six or 14, he will grow more eager to go to the library if you parents also borrow books there for yourselves. Any child is more likely to read a great deal at home if he often sees his parents reading there.

EVEN BEFORE MOST parents go with their toddlers to a library, they prepare them for this pleasant experience by reading to them at home. After these children enter school, their parents will keep on reading to them and stimulate and help them to learn to read well themselves.

It's not enough to provide our growing children with lots of good books. We also need to find ways to help these children learn to read well, so as to enjoy reading more and more books.

Furthermore, we need to reduce or prevent home distractions like TV and make sure that regular periods for reading are available.

In some cases, parents will require their child to read from other than his schoolbooks for half an hour, even an hour, every day.

My bulletins, "Why Read to Baby and Young Child" and "Home Helps in Reading," may be had by sending a self - addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Federal Income Tax Office Will Be Open Monday

Area taxpayers were warned today they must file their 1961 federal income tax returns by midnight Monday to avoid penalties and interest charges.

District Director Melvin J. Burton at Cleveland estimated some 700,000 still must file. Nearly 1½ million already have filed and 735,000 refund checks totaling $102,466,497 have been mailed, he said.

Because the April 15 deadline this year falls on Sunday, the deadline is advanced automatically until Monday. Returns postmarked by midnight Monday will be accepted.

Burton warned no district offices, including East Liverpool, will be open for assistance on Saturday but all will be open Monday to aid taxpayers in filing their returns. The offices will close at 5 p. m. Monday, he added.

The East Liverpool office will be open Friday as usual to aid taxpayers but officials suggested phone calls rather than personal visits. Hours both days will be 8:15 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Liquor-By-Drink Issue Debated By Lawyer, Pastor

WHEELING (AP) — A lawyer and a minister — each poles apart on the liquor-by-the-drink question debated the issue amicably before about 500 persons here Wednesday night. And, although this section of the state is regarded as one wets' strongest areas of public support, each speaker was warmly applauded.

Arguing in favor of the amendment, which will be submitted to the voters in November, was Chester R. Hubbard, a Republican who represents Ohio County in the House of Delegates. Taking the opposite view was the Rev. L. E. Crowson, a Methodist minister who heads the Citizens Committee for Defeat of the Liquor Amendment.

Each spokesman read an opening statement loaded with satistics and other information designed to prove his own viewpoint. The speakers then answered questions from the audience and presented closing remarks.

PILATE'S WIFE

"When he was set down on the judgment seat, his wife sent unto him, saying, Have thou nothing to do with that just man . . ."

—Matthew XXVII:19

Matthew gives us only this brief glimpse into the life of Pilate's wife.

Perhaps her only importance for the writer of the Gospel narrative was that one moment when her life touched that of Jesus and she intervened to save Him because she had "suffered many things this day in a dream because of him."

An apocryphal writer says that her name was Claudia Procula, which suggests that she may have belonged to the noble and influential family of that name in Rome.

The fact that Pilate was able to take her with him to Judea lends support to such a view. There was a Roman law forbidding pro-consuls to take their wives with them when they went to rule in foreign lands.

Her reference to Jesus as "that just man" suggests a previous and accurate knowledge of Him. Had she heard His message, and was she, too, a secret disciple, like Nicodemus?

Such a thing is not impossible. As several historians have pointed out, Roman women of that day were beginning to show a great interest in Eastern faiths, which offered more personal promise and satisfaction than the Latin cults. In Rome itself, a great number of patrician women had been initiated into the Mithraic religion.

Scripture does not tell what Pilate's reaction was to his wife's note. But there is little doubt that it strengthened his own resolve to release Jesus.

The fact that Pilate did not have the personal courage to persist in that resolve, even at the possible cost of losing his own position, was no fault of his wife.

The Greek Orthodox Church thought so highly of Claudia, in fact, that she is revered as a saint by members of that denomination.

He also won an outstanding rating at the Tri-State Science Fair at Steubenville.

Lisbon Area Trucker Injured In Overturn

Arnold McCall, 53, of Lisbon R. D. 3 suffered a sprained right wrist when his coal truck overturned on Route 14 north of Salem Wednesday after he swerved to avoid hitting a stopped auto.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said McCall, headed north, was unable to halt for a car driven by Gerald Gilbert, 33, of Salem, who had stopped to make a left turn about a half mile north of Salem.

McCall swerved the truck to the right, went into a ditch and upset, spilling the load of coal. He was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

County Man Files Suit In Wife's Road Death

LISBON — A $25,000 damage suit as a result of a 1961 traffic death was filed Tuesday in Common Pleas Court by August F. Griebenow of East Rochester R. D. 1, executor of the estate of his wife, Verda.

Harry and Nellie Stackhouse of Kensington R. D. 1 were named defendants.

Griebenow claims his auto was struck by the Stackhouse car on Route 30 Nov. 7, 1961, and his wife was knocked from his auto and killed.

Work On Freeway Ahead Of Schedule

Work on the 2½-mile East Liverpool expressway from the city limits in California Hollow to W. 3rd St. still is ahead of schedule, William R. McKenna, deputy director of the State Highway Department's Division 11 office, said.

McKenna estimated the work is 77 per cent completed on the project, one of 14 under way in the division area.

About 23 per cent of the work on the improvement of 2.7 miles of Route 46 between New Waterford and the intersection of Route 7 has been finished, he reported.

The contractor is just getting a good start on the relocation of 2.7 miles of Route 7 from Flagpole Hill to the Ohio Edison Co. power plant, the director continued. About 3 per cent of the work has been completed.

Chester Club Plans Lodge Area Project

Plans to construct a barbecue pit at the rear of the Chester Masonic Temple and to clear brush and trees from the Ohio River bank near the lodge were completed at a meeting of the 142 Club Tuesday night at the temple.

The club will also place the lodge name in glazed brick in front of the temple. Plans were completed for a dance for members and guests April 27.

Lunch was served 32 by John McKenzie and Dewey McPherson, president. Movies of Washington State were screened by Carl Shepherd.

Next meeting is April 24.

Mrs. Cramer Delong. In Loving Memory of our dear Wife and Mother, Who passed away 3 years ago today April 12th: Sometimes it's hard to understand the reason for God's way, We wonder if His Will is right, when sadness fills our day. It seemed so wrong to take from us, The one we held most dear, Who we knew had been so good all through her lifetime here, But we try to take our comfort in belief that He knew best, and beyond the gates of Heaven there's sweet content and rest, and tho; it's hard to remember, far from all care and stress, Our Beloved Wife and Mother has found Eternal Happiness. Sadly missed by her Husband, sons, daughters, and grandchildren.

PILATE'S WIFE

"When he was set down on the judgment seat, his wife sent unto him, saying, Have thou nothing to do with that just man . . ."

—Matthew XXVII.19

Matthew gives us only this brief glimpse into the life of Pilate's wife.

Perhaps her only importance for the writer of the Gospel narrative was that one moment when her life touched that of Jesus and she intervened to save Him because she had "suffered many things this day in a dream because of him."

An apocryphal writer says that her name was Claudia Procula, which suggests that she may have belonged to the noble and influential family of that name in Rome.

The fact that Pilate was able to take her with him to Judea lends support to such a view. There was a Roman law forbidding pro-consuls to take their wives with them when they went to rule in foreign lands.

Her reference to Jesus as "that just man" suggests a previous and accurate knowledge of Him. Had she heard His message, and was she, too, a secret disciple, like Nicodemus?

Such a thing is not impossible. As several historians have pointed out, Roman women of that day were beginning to show a great interest in Eastern faiths, which offered more personal promise and satisfaction than the Latin cults. In Rome itself, a great number of patrician women had been initiated into the Mithraic religion.

Scripture does not tell what Pilate's reaction was to his wife's note. But there is little doubt that it strengthened his own resolve to release Jesus.

The fact that Pilate did not have the personal courage to persist in that resolve, even at the possible cost of losing his own position, was no fault of his wife.

The Greek Orthodox Church thought so highly of Claudia, in fact, that she is revered as a saint by members of that denomination.

Student Wins Award At Planetarium Fair

A local student has been named winner of the Chemical Sales Association award in the Science Fair at the Buhl Planetarium at Pittsburgh.

He is Tom Morriw, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Morris of Sherwood Ave., and a ninth grader at Westgate School.

His display is entitled "Wonderful World of Petroleum," was judged best in its field.

He also won an outstanding rating at the Tri-State Science Fair at Steubenville.

Morris will receive his award Friday night at 7:30 at the Pittsburgh Carnegie Library.

Lisbon Area Trucker Injured In Overturn

Arnold McCall, 53, of Lisbon R. D. 3 suffered a sprained right wrist when his coal truck overturned on Route 14 north of Salem Wednesday after he swerved to avoid hitting a stopped auto.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said McCall, headed north, was unable to halt for a car driven by Gerald Gilbert, 33, of Salem, who had stopped to make a left turn about a half mile north of Salem.

McCall swerved the truck to the right, went into a ditch and upset, spilling the load of coal. He was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

County Man Files Suit In Wife's Road Death

LISBON — A $25,000 damage suit as a result of a 1961 traffic death was filed Tuesday in Common Pleas Court by August F. Griebenow of East Rochester R. D. 1, executor of the estate of his wife, Verda.

Harry and Nellie Stackhouse of Kensington R. D. 1 were named defendants.

Griebenow claims his auto was struck by the Stackhouse car on Route 30 Nov. 7, 1961, and his wife was knocked from his auto and killed.

Work On Freeway Ahead Of Schedule

Work on the 2½-mile East Liverpool expressway from the city limits in California Hollow to W. 3rd St. still is ahead of schedule, William R. McKenna, deputy director of the State Highway Department's Division 11 office, said.

McKenna estimated the work is 77 per cent completed on the project, one of 14 under way in the division area.

About 23 per cent of the work on the improvement of 2.7 miles of Route 46 between New Waterford and the intersection of Route 7 has been finished, he reported.

The contractor is just getting a good start on the relocation of 2.7 miles of Route 7 from Flagpole Hill to the Ohio Edison Co. power plant, the director continued. About 3 per cent of the work has been completed.

Chester Club Plans Lodge Area Project

Plans to construct a barbecue pit at the rear of the Chester Masonic Temple and to clear brush and trees from the Ohio River bank near the lodge were completed at a meeting of the 142 Club Tuesday night at the temple.

The club will also place the lodge name in glazed brick in front of the temple. Plans were completed for a dance for members and guests April 27.

Lunch was served 32 by John McKenzie and Dewey McPherson, president. Movies of Washington State were screened by Carl Shepherd.

Next meeting is April 24.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 IN MEMORIAM

Mrs. Cramer Delong. In Loving Memory of our dear Wife and Mother, Who passed away 3 years ago today April 12th: Sometimes it's hard to understand the reason for God's way, We wonder if His Will is right, when sadness fills our day. It seemed so wrong to take from us, The one we held most dear, Who we knew had been so good all through her lifetime here. But we try to take our comfort in belief that He knew best, and beyond the gates of Heaven there's sweet content and rest, and tho; it's hard to remember, far from all care and stress, Our Beloved Wife and Mother has found Eternal Happiness. Sadly missed by her Husband, sons, daughters, and grandchildren.

3 CARDS OF THANKS

WE wish to thank our many friends and neighbors for their kindnesses during the sickness and death of Harry Grimm. — Mother, Anna Grimm and Family.

Junior Editors Quiz on NAMES

QUESTION: When and where did last names originate?

ANSWER: Many centuries ago, people stayed more or less in small groups. There were also fewer people so that one name, Joseph or William, was enough. As time went on, however, the population grew. Eventually there were too many people with identical names, so second names were added to the first to eliminate the confusion. In some cases this was being done in Biblical times. At first the names were very informative. For example, William might be the son of Peter. He was called William, Peter's son. Later this became William Peterson. Some men took names from their jobs. Baker and Smith were examples. There were names for physical characteristics such as Longfellow, Small or Stout. Some men took the names of the nearest town. Another special type of names comes from Scotland and Ireland. Mac before a name in Scotland means "the son of." Therefore, MacDonald is the son of Donald.

FOR YOU TO DO: See if you can find out how your family name originated. Some are harder to track down than others. If it is not an English name, first translate it into English. If it still does not make sense, try breaking it into parts — for example, not Johnson but John son. You will have to use a lot of imagination to figure out how your ancestor got his name.
